Reds Expel Student As Unwelcome

American Diplomat Attended University In Soviet Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said today a young American diplomat who had been attending Moscow University has been declared unwelcome inside the Soviet Union.

The department said the ouster of John A. Baker Jr. was protested without avail by U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson.

A spokesman was asked whether a Soviet diplomat had been ordered out of the United States in reciprocity. He replied, "No, not up to this point."

Denies Accusation

Baker was accused of the Soviet Foreign Ministry of having "systematically violated the norms of behavior for diplomatic representatives."

Baker, on leave in London with his wife and infant child, denied the accusation.

The State Department said Thompson sought Saturday to get an explanation for the action from Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, but Gromyko refused.

Baker was the only U.S. diplomat in Moscow ever permitted to attend regular classes at Moscow University, the State Department said. He had been attending classes in Russian medieval history.

In a statement from London, made public here, Baker, 30, said he had been friendly with some of his fellow students, had some as guests in his home, dined with them at public restaurants and went with some of them to U.S.-Soviet athletic contests.

"I have no idea of any reason other than my acquaintance with the students which could be behind this Soviet action," Baker said.

"Quite Free Here"

The State Department said Soviet diplomats in Washington and New York have been "quite free" to attend classes at U.S. universities. Department officials said Soviet diplomats simply apply to the schools and, if qualified, are admitted.

Baker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Baker Sr. of Westport, Conn. His wife Sally is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Bragg of Cambridge, Mass.

The State Department said it had not decided where Baker will be sent from London. No effort will be made further, officials said, to get him back to Moscow immediately.

Riots Curbed By Troops In Lebanon City

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Government forces held control again today in the streets of Tripoli after a weekend of bitter fighting between loyalists and insurgent Moslem nationalists.

At least 60 persons were reported killed in the bloodiest fight of Lebanon's internal strife. Government forces finally stormed through the twisting streets of the northern coastal city to end the fray.

Another reported factor was an order by Rachid Karami, a top opposition leader, for his forces to stop fighting because casualties were growing.

President Camille Chamoun, who heads the pro-Western government of this tiny Middle Eastern nation, charges President Naser's United Arab Republic with inciting Lebanon's Moslems to revolt.

The Moslems want the government to align its policy with Naser's. They also fear that Chamoun, a Christian, will have the constitution amended to permit his re-election to another six-year term.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Five-day forecast: No radical temperatures are expected to average about or slightly below normal. Showers are expected Wednesday through Saturday. Precipitation will total from ½ to ¾ of an inch.

Junta Facing Crucial Test In Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The ruling government junta grappled today with the most serious political crisis since it seized power from Gen. Marcos Perez Jimenez's dictatorship in January.

The junta's two civilian members have resigned without explanation.

The three remaining military members were threatened with a general strike if they showed signs of breaking the junta's promise to hold nationwide elections.

"The people will go into the streets in a general strike just as they did in January," said Fabricio Ojeda, whose Junta Patriotica was one of the key civilian groups in the January revolution.

Ojeda said the strike could come if the government command remained entirely military of if the two civilians who resigned, Eugenio Mendoza and Blas Lamberti, are replaced with reactionary elements.

However, he expressed confidence that liberal civilians would be appointed to the government junta.

Probe Starts By Senate In Anti-U. S. Acts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee starts an inquiry today into the factors behind such recent anti-American demonstrations as those which marred Vice President Nixon's good will tour of South America.

One purpose of the inquiry is to determine whether the attacks on Nixon, the burning of U.S. Information Agency libraries in Lebanon and anti-American outbursts elsewhere were part of a worldwide Communist pattern.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said the attacks on Nixon definitely were inspired by Communists who, he said, are but a very small minority in the South American countries.

"There has been a concerted effort throughout the vice president's trip to embarrass him," Hoover said in an interview transcribed for New York State radio stations.

Nixon also blamed the incidents on a small group he said was directed by the Communists seeking to discredit the United States.

There has been no indication that Nixon will appear before the Senate committee.

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) said one goal of the committee is to find out "the extent to which the CIA and the State Department briefed Mr. Nixon in advance on the dangers he might encounter" on his South American trip.

Jupiter Seen First To Solve Challenge

Recover Cone In Sea After Perfect Shot

Re-entry Problem Study Benefits By Test At Canaveral

By JACK KING

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Jupiter intermediate range missile—a project the Army almost lost five months ago—apparently is the first ballistic weapon to solve the re-entry challenge.

Army rocket men at the nation's missile test center agreed the re-entry success was due to an almost perfect shot of the mighty Jupiter shortly after midnight Sunday.

Some 4½ hours after the launching the huge nose cone—the first full-sized warhead ever mounted on a Jupiter IRBM—was plucked out of the Atlantic by frogmen and the crew of a Navy auxiliary submarine rescue ship.

Taken To Huntsville

First reports indicated the re-entry test was a complete success.

The precious nose cone was taken to Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala., where Army scientists will study its intricate instruments to learn the secrets of re-entering the earth's atmosphere without burnout after a cruise through space.

It was the first time a full-scale ballistic missile nose cone has been recovered intact. The only other recovery came last Aug. 8 when a four-foot nose cone was retrieved from the sea.

This is the same Jupiter the Defense Department ordered the Army to drop last December. Later, however, it was decided that the Army should continue with development and production of the weapon.

Most details of the missile's latest performance are classified. But it was reported unofficially that the Jupiter was fired at a range of just over 1,600 miles.

The launching ran like clockwork. The 69-foot missile lifted away with a mighty roar and billows of white flame.

Now In Mass Production

It was seen as a tiny yellow dot in the sky for almost three minutes. Then engine burnout occurred and the rocket began its free flight through space.

The Jupiter, now in mass production by Chrysler Corp. and expected to be operational with troops late this year, was designed for a range of 1,500 miles. It reportedly has traveled as far as 2,200 miles.

Cardinal Stricken, In Grave Condition

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Samuel Cardinal Stritch, whose right arm was amputated three weeks ago, suffered a stroke today. Word reaching the Vatican was that his condition was grave.

The 70-year-old Roman Catholic Archbishop of Chicago, previously had been recovering well from the amputation which was made necessary by a blood clot in the arm. Sunday he had celebrated Mass for the first time since the operation.

The cardinal was stricken again early today but by noon had recovered consciousness. A source close to Vatican authorities said he had improved slightly, "can talk again and can recognize people."

Hospital attendants said the cardinal suffered a thrombosis that produced light paralysis of his right side. The paralysis did not affect his face and he was able to speak again later in the morning. He could move his right leg slightly, physicians said. His left leg was not affected.

The cardinal received Holy Communion but was not given extreme Unction, the last sacrament of the Catholic Church. He received Extreme Unction when he previously underwent surgery, and it is not administered twice in the same ailment.

A medical bulletin said, "Prognosis is reserved for the present," meaning that the doctors would not forecast the outcome of the cardinal's latest attack.

A medical bulletin issued by Dr. Ralph Bergen, the cardinal's personal physician from Chicago, and Italian Dr. Filippo Rocchi said: "His Eminence Cardinal Stritch, proprefect of the Congregation for Propagation of the Faith, during the early hours of Monday, May

Eisenhower, GOP Leaders Hold Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Republican congressional leaders today discussed the tense international situation, including the crises in Lebanon, France and Algeria.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland of California reported a general review of the world picture after he and other GOP leaders concluded their weekly meeting with Eisenhower.

Knowland declined to provide any detail, but said in response to a question that the discussion dealt at least in part with the critical situations in Lebanon, France and Algeria.

Also in reply to a question, Knowland said there was no discussion of the riot-marred tour of South American nations which Vice President Nixon concluded last week.

Asked whether there was any indication that Eisenhower may ask Congress to take some action in connection with any of the international crises, Knowland replied that there was not.

Today's Eisenhower conference with the leaders was advanced 24 hours because of the President's plans to go to New York Tuesday for a major speech there in the evening on the nation's economy.

Knowland said Eisenhower did not disclose whether he expects in Tuesday's talk to go into the tax situation as related to the business recession.

Cargo Craft Sent Abroad

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Eighteen huge U.S. Air Force Globemaster transports today had arrived at undisclosed bases in Germany and France for possible use in the troubled Middle East.

The C124 Globemasters were ordered to West Germany by the U.S. government Saturday, possibly to evacuate Americans from Lebanon or to ferry arms to that strife-torn nation.

"There have been no orders yet for them to fly to Lebanon," an Air Force spokesman said.

War Leader Cites Party Rule Futile

Repudiates Role Of Dictator, But 'Ready To Serve'

By GODFREY ANDERSON

PARIS (AP) — Gen. Charles de Gaulle today repudiated the role of dictator but said he remains ready to try to lead France out of chaos.

The wartime hero described himself as "a man belonging to nobody but belonging to all" and added:

"Have I ever attacked the fundamental liberties of the republic? No, I restored them. How could you have me at 67 start a career as a dictator?"

Says France Betrayed

But he made it clear he feels the present situation, with party enmities in Paris and the army in near-revolt in Algeria, is hopeless. He said the parties have betrayed France.

He expressed his views at a packed news conference in a hotel. As he spoke, the first signs of a Communist-called order to stop work were being felt in Paris. Some subway lines ground to a halt and many buses returned to their garages. Police were on the alert at every nerve center in the city.

The general, dressed in a gray suit, spoke in a firm voice. He made a statement and cut off questioning after a half-hour.

"I am going back to my village but I remain at the disposition of the country," he said.

At the outset, De Gaulle made it clear he felt that the present regime, encompassing many parties, could accomplish nothing.

He said France's future and past are entwined with that of Algeria, which is now in near revolt against the current Cabinet in Paris.

De Gaulle said he is ready to head the government of the French Republic as he did in a previous great national crisis.

He made a slashing attack on the French political parties, which he said had betrayed the country.

He recalled that he took power legally in postwar France after returning here with the Allied armies.

De Gaulle said he had kept silent until the moment when he felt he could serve the country.

Nearly 700 Attend

The general opened his news conference of nearly 700 people with a brief statement. He then said he would answer questions only concerning French institutions and relationships with Algeria.

Referring to the last four years in North Africa, he said the present situation could lead to an extremely grave national crisis.

"But it can also be the start of

Missile Plant Workers Agree To Pact Terms

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The tensions of long weeks of bargaining are over for three major aircraft firms and 42,000 union members.

Approval of new two-year contracts was voted Sunday by production workers for Douglas, North American and Lockheed Aircraft in Greater Los Angeles and for missile plants in California, Arizona, Oklahoma and Ohio.

Eight plants were involved in the balloting. Two unions — the United Auto Workers and the International Assn. of Machinists—figured in negotiations.

Basic terms of the new contracts are wage boosts ranging from 2 to 11 cents an hour, cost of living clauses incorporated in the contracts, and an automatic wage hike of 3 per cent or 7 cents an hour, whichever is higher, the second year.

Ike Will Cast Primary Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower plans to go to Gettysburg Tuesday to vote in the Pennsylvania primary and then travel on to New York for a major speech Tuesday night on the nation's economy.

Weather permitting, the President will take off from the south White House grounds by helicopter about 10:30 a.m., on the 30-minute flight to Gettysburg where he has a farm home.

After voting Eisenhower will go on by helicopter to Harrisburg, Pa., about 35 miles away. There he will board his private four-engine plane, Columbine III, for the flight to New York.

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP)—Sixty-five persons died in flames Sunday when a Belgian Sabena airliner crashed while landing for repairs to a bad engine. Many of those killed were returning from vacations and visits to the World's Fair in their native Belgium.

Only four passengers escaped through a hatchway before the plane exploded in flames. At least eight of the dead were children. No Americans were listed on the manifest.

It was the worst crash in the airline's history.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The second mysterious explosion within 18 hours rocked the Metropolitan Baltimore area today.

The new blast was felt most sharply at 9:45 a.m. near Friendship International Airport and Clarksville, Md., 13 miles southwest of Baltimore. Yesterday's was reported shortly before 4 p.m. over a wide area radiating from northeast Baltimore.

A Civil Aeronautics tower employe at the airport said he knew of no supersonic planes in the area at the time of the morning explosion.

Governors Unable To Agree On Taxes, Recession Cures

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Democratic and Republican governors attending their 50th annual conference disagreed today on politics, tax cutting, civil rights, recession cures and federal-state relations.

In a congressional election year that may set up some sign-posts for the 1960 presidential contest, the governors were finding little unanimity on any subject as they headed into their business sessions.

Democrats generally forecast their party will make telling gains in this year's battle for control of Congress. Republicans disputed this, pointing to farm price increases as one of their chief hopes for political advances.

GOP Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois, the conference chairman, barred any official action on civil rights. But Democratic Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida persisted in efforts to sell his idea for federal-state commissions to handle local school integration problems.

Gov. Averell Harriman, New York Democrat, called for a tax reduction for lower and middle income groups—a field in which disagreement cut across party lines.

Stratton and Democratic Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania opposed any general reduction which would increase the federal deficit at a time when government spending is being accelerated.

Light Vote Due To Hurt Stassen

McGonigle, Livengood Holding Edge In Pennsylvania

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The prospect of a light vote may hamper Harold Stassen's chances of winning the Republican nomination for governor on an independent ticket in Pennsylvania's primary election Tuesday.

A light vote in a Pennsylvania primary traditionally favors candidates backed by state political organizations.

Stassen is running against the Republican organization candidate, Arthur T. McGonigle of Reading, head of one of the largest pretzel firms in the country. Williams S. Livengood Jr., former state secretary of internal affairs, also is making an independent bid for the GOP gubernatorial nomination.

Pittsburgh Mayor David L. Lawrence, 68, is the Democratic organization candidate for governor. His chief opposition is Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman, running on an independent ticket.

Rep. Hugh Scott (R) of Philadelphia is running with McGonigle for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by the retirement of Sen. Edward Martin (R) next January. Weldon B. Heyburn, former state auditor general, is Stassen's running mate for the Senate. Heyburn has been inactive since he suffered a slight stroke at the beginning of the campaign. Livengood is running alone.

Gov. George Leader is the Democratic state party choice for the Senate nomination. Clarence P. Bowers, Reading battery manufacturer, is opposing him on the Furman ticket.

Stassen, 51, was goveroor of Minnesota three times. An issue during a listless campaign has been his Pennsylvania residence. He also was President Eisenhower's disarmament aide and in 1956 he strongly opposed Vice President Nixon's bid for renomination at the Republican National Convention.

The state GOP leadership looks favorably on Nixon as a 1960 presidential candidate and a Republican governor would wield great influence over the direction the Pennsylvania delegation takes in 1960.

Trujillo Denies U. S. Aid Funds Are Spent By Him

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Gift-giving Lt. Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr. says not one penny of his expenditures in this country came from U.S. foreign aid funds to his native Dominican Republic.

It was his first direct public comment on his widely discussed gifts of a $5,400 sports car to actress Kim Novak and a $10,000 strand of diamonds to actress Joan Collins.

The 29-year-old son of the Dominican Republic leader told a reporter Sunday night: "To begin with, the mutual aid fund agreement between the United States and the Dominican Republic does not provide for the transfer of cash.

"Every cent I have spent came from my own personal account.

"Not a penny came from the taxpayers of the United States. Not a penny came from the taxpayers of the Dominican Republic."

The Dominican Embassy in Washington said last week the U.S. government has sent no money but has sent a limited amount of military equipment to the Dominican Republic. The elder Trujillo told an interviewer Saturday, in Ciudad Trujillo, "He is spending his own money."

Young Trujillo declined comment on reports that he is seeking a divorce in Mexico.

Educator Says Teenagers Shouldn't Pick Courses

OMAHA (AP)—A university president contends that high school students should not be permitted to choose their own courses.

"I contend that teen-agers don't know at that age what they want," said the Very Rev. Paul C. Reinert, S. J., president of St. Louis University.

early budget is expected to stand

Father Reinert was among the speakers at thd 62nd annual convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers which plunged into its first work sessions today.

Failure to develop the potential of so-called "gifted" students, is "one of the great crimes of this country," said Father Reinert.

He declared in an interview the schools have been lax in developing the huge pool of intellect represented by these children.

But Mrs. Rollin Brown, Los Angeles, national PTA president, said this problem is linked to what she called today's most serious educational problem, the shortage of good teachers.

Mrs. Brown called adequate salaries the No. 1 requirement in recruiting teachers. With this solved, she asserted, "we will be able to have smaller classroom populations and give the attention necessary to the gifted child as well as to the average student."

Californian Packing Gun Ordered Out

BALTIMORE (AP)—A California man convicted of packing a six-gun on the streets of Baltimore was told to get out of town yesterday and not to wait for sundown.

"These are not the gold rush days when everyone packed his own shooting iron," Magistrate Henry L. Rogers told Warren Van Meter, 64-year-old retired Arcadia, Calif., businessman.

The charge was possession of a deadly weapon. Caria Taylor, Bel Air, Md., Negro, testified in Northern District Police Court that Van Meter pointed a pistol at him out of his car window while both were returning from the Preakness Saturday.

Van Meter said that Taylor had tried to force him off the road and had only seen the pistol resting in the glove compartment of his car, where it was kept for protection.

Magistrate Rogers suspended a six-month sentence in the House of Correction and fined Van Meter $250.

Negro Youth, 18, Accused Of Rape

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rape charges have been filed against a half nephew of a Negro whose death sentence for the raping of a white woman was set aside by the Supreme Court.

James Edward Mallory, 18, was charged yesterday with raping a 16-year-old Negro girl.

Police said James is a half nephew of Andrew R. Mallory. Andrew, 22, escaped the electric chair when the Supreme Court last June held he had been detained too long before arrest and arraignment and that a confession he made in that 7½ hour interval shouldn't have been considered as evidence.

a kind of resurrection," the general said.

He said that in "This moment of grave confusion all should be aware that the party regime could not and would not solve the enormous problems confronting France—the association of France with the peoples of Africa, and within the communities living in Algeria."

De Gaulle said the fighting in Algeria and the boiling emotional fever there grew out of the failure of the regime in Paris.

He continued:

"We are going into a diplomatic Dien Bien Phu.

"The population of Algeria sees in Paris crisis upon crisis. How does one avoid rebellion in this population of Algeria: The population of Algeria is looking somewhere else, outside the parliamentary combination, for a way to end its troubles.

"In these conditions, the army, which was able to see this feeling, prevented disorder. The army has acted."

He said the army sees the "mediocrity" which prevails.

"I understand perfectly well the attitude . . . of the high command in Algeria," he said.

De Gaulle implied that if he assumed leadership of the French nation he would insist only on those powers freely given him.

The general said he interpreted the powers of the Republic to be "only those given you."

"If things continue the way they are going," De Gaulle said, "we all know perfectly well that the regime as it is can not accomplish anything. . . .

"I am a man alone, with no party, with no organization, who for six years has engaged in no political action and for three years has made no declaration. I belong to no one and I belong to all," he said.

Speaking of the action of French generals in Algeria, De Gaulle said that if the generals were insurrectional the public powers in France had taken no sanctions against them. He said he did not see why he therefore was called upon to term them rebels.

Just half an hour after starting the press conference, De Gaulle cut off further questions, saying: "This is my last word—I believed it would be useful for the country to hear what I have said. I am going back to my village but I remain at the disposition of the country."

Some 36,000 security forces had taken stations at the vital points in Paris prior to De Gaulle's arrival to put down any demonstration for or against his return to power.

Gore Cites Uniformity Lacking In Road Work

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn) said today an 11-state check has shown "a disturbing lack of uniformity" in ways of preparing cost estimates for the interstate highway network.

The estimates form the basis on which federal funds are allocated among the states. Lack of uniformity in the estimates would tend to increase some states' shares and lower others. The federal government pays 90 per cent of the cost of the interstate superhighways.

Gore said the system was criticized in a report from the General Accounting Office, which made the study at his request. The report noted, however, that the Bureau of Public Roads defended its apportionments as fair and reasonable.

The senator said the Public Roads subcommittee he heads will meet Tuesday to consider the GAO report.

Because federal aid funds for highways must be voted and apportioned well in advance, Gore said, the division among states for fiscal 1959, which begins July 1, and fiscal 1960, a year later, must stand.

Gore said in a statement the GAO sampling survey found that design standards, traffic estimates, and costs lacked the uniformity asked by Congress in passing the Highway Act.

States involved in the GAO check were California, Colorado, Georgia, Illinois, Kansas, New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Texas, Virginia and Washington.

Held in Dorchester County jail was William H. Elliott, 47, Negro of the Webb labor barracks of Vienna.

Authorities said the shooting took place at the labor barracks and that a .32 caliber pistol was used.

Trooper Reginald Tindall said the two men got involved in an argument, that Conaway allegedly reached for a knife and that Elliott shot him.

McKeldin Urges Better Federal-State Outline

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP)—Maryland's Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin today called for better public information on federal-state relations.

McKeldin is in Europe, but his prepared remarks were submitted for the record at a round-table discussion on federal-state relations during the annual governors' conference here.

McKeldin, a member of the Joint Federal-State Action Committee on Intergovernmental Relations, said he has found that most Marylanders "are thoroughly uninformed, and some have been woefully misinformed" as to what the committee is attempting to accomplish.

"The need is obvious for a more effective liaison with press, radio, television and other avenues of public communication," he said.

McKeldin said the confusion in the public mind has distorted the picture of the committee's efforts to improve the balance of responsibilities between the national government and the states.

He said most of the "muddled thinking" that has come to his attention deals with the committee's proposal for the federal government to withdraw from its financial contributions toward support of public vocational schools in the states.

He said he had received several letters from Washington, D. C. teachers and Hagerstown, Md., pupils expressing a fear "that there is something akin to a dark plot to abolish those important institutions."

McKeldin said he has taken radio time and issued press statements to assure Marylanders "that the federal contribution is a very minor part of the cost of our vocational schools, that the schools are in no danger whatever, and indeed, that they will grow in size, number and usefulnessin the years ahead."

But, he said, there are many who stick with their first impressions in regard to any given issue.

McKeldin's remarks were presented to the committee by two of his aides who are representing Maryland at the conference. They are Russell H. McCain, executive assistant to the governor, and William A. Gresham, administrative assistant.

Four Deaths By Accident In Maryland

Weekly Toll Finds Two Died In Fires, Two In Road Mishaps

By The Associated Press

Maryland recorded at least four accidental deaths during the weekend, two of them in fires.

In St. Marys County, a 38-year-old waterman died Saturday when fire destroyed his frame home on St. Georges Island in the Potomac River. Police said the victim, Bradley I. Rice, was alone when the fire started.

The other fire death occurred in Adelphi, Md., near Hyattsville, also Saturday. The body of Elmer J. Jenkins, 41-year-old father of four children, was found in the ashes of his one-room frame home. He died in the flames while his wife and children were at the movies.

Other weekend victims included:

Randall Lee Martin, 2, of Smithburg, near Hagerstown, crushed to death Saturday by a dump truck driven by his father while the boy and his twin brother, Ronald, were playing in the yard.

Frank Junior Mayhew, 34, of Piedmont, W. Va., killed Saturday when a car in which he was riding ran off Maryland 135 near Westernport.

Urge Polio Vaccine For All Children

Salk vaccine for pre-school children is being urged as a precautionary measure by the Allegany County Health Department.

Dr. Ton van Strien, Allegany County health officer, said the summer months ahead are a time of the year when the polio virus is more prevalent.

He pointed out that the vaccine may be given to a child after he has reached the age of two months.

If the first shot is given now and the second shot is given in June, the child will have partial protection during the summer months until the third and final shot is given some seven months after the second.

Many small tots as yet have not been inoculated. This can partially be explained by the tendency of many parents to await giving children the necessary protection until they reach school age.

He said during the past three years immunizations were made available on a wholesale basis to first graders. It is apparently not realized by the parents that the initial mass immunization program has come to an end.

Parents of Allegany County are strongly urged to discuss the matter with their physician or with the public health nurse in their area.

The Health Department is giving immunization only at the regular child hygiene clinics held in various parts of the county.

The time to protect the child against the disease is when he is young. There is an adequate supply of the vaccine in the county, said Dr. van Strien.

During 1957 all schools in the county were visited by health authorities and the pupils were given shots. Adults from 21 to 40 years of age also are encouraged to get the vaccine.

Accidents each year claim the lives of more than 25,000 Americans aged 65 and over.

Seeking End Fishing War On Potomac

Maryland, Virginia Meeting Has Former Justice As Master

MOUNT VERNON, Va. (AP)—Virginia and Maryland today try to end their fishing rights war — a war with roots nearly as old as this shrine selected for the peace talks.

An out-of-court settlement of the disagreement over fishing rights in the Potomac River is the aim of a joint Maryland-Virginia commission.

The commission of 10 members was appointed at the suggestion of former Justice Stanley F. Reid, special master in the case, in an effort to avoid prolonged litigation.

The Maryland Legislature sought to abrogate the historic Potomac River pact of 1785. Maryland contends Virginia violated the spirit of the agreement by tolerating violations by Virginia oystermen of anti-dredging regulations.

Virginia in turn filed a suit with the U.S. Supreme Court. The Old Dominion protested that Maryland could not take unilateral action to break the compact giving Virginians equal fishing rights in the river owned by Maryland.

The Supreme Court then named Reid a special master in the case. At a hearing in March Reid deferred further proceedings until June 3 and suggested that the governors of the two states name a commission to try meanwhile for an out-of-court settlement.

The Maryland members are headed by Carlysle Barton, a Baltimore attorney. Chairman of the Virginia group is State Sen. Mills E. Godwin Jr., of Suffolk.

An invitation for the two-state commission to meet at Washington's homeplace was extended by the shrine's Board of Regents.

Della Accused On Campaign Material Use

BALTIMORE (AP)—A Democratic candidate for the Maryland Senate was under a court order to reply today to a charge that he circulated illegal campaign material.

State Senator George W. Della (D-Balto 6th) was accused by M. Jack Marshall, another Sixth District candidate for the State Senate of distributing ballots "fraudulently marked 'Official Democratic Ballot'." Della's political agent, Leroy Frederick, is co-defendant.

In another action, Anthony P. Franco, 35, independent Democratic candidate for the House of Delegates, and two men were held in $1,000 bail each during the weekend on charges of conspiracy and circulating campaign literature without the name of the authorized political agent.

Franco denied the charges at a hearing before Magistrate John Janetzke. His attorney, I. Winston Mezger, claimed the charges were part of a "political frame-up."

The attorney for Della and Frederick, Robert F. Skutch Jr., denied that the ballots were fraudulent and and contended that an entity known as "The Democratic Party" does not exist.

Judge James K. Cullen in Circuit Court overruled this contention and gave Della and Frederick until today to file an answer.

1 Killed, Trio Hurt In Crash Near Tyrone

TYRONE, Pa. (AP) — John Woodring, 26, of Tyrone, was killed Sunday night in a one-car crash along Route 45 about 11 miles southeast of this Blair County community.

Three other men were injured. They are John Dominick, 27, the driver; Alvin Riggleman, 23; and Robert Woomer, 23, all of Tyrone. Officials at Tyrone Hospital listed all in fair condition.

The car smashed against a rocky embankment.

Air Workers Get Contracts

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Aircraft and guided missile production workers in six states today ratified new contracts with Lockheed, North American and Douglas.

The action lifted the threat of a strike which had hung over the industry for weeks.

Approximately 42,000 workers are covered by the new agreements, with 30,000 of them in California.

Settlements, after weeks of negotiations, were reached earlier in other segments of the industry, including Convair.

The agreements provided for a small wage increase and certain fringe betterments.

Conlon Travel News From The West Indies

Tuesday, May 13th

Greetings from Charlotte Amalie, V.I.

May in St. Thomas, though between the heavy Winter traffic and the Summer "Family Season," is a good time to visit, with much to offer in weather and shopping for unusual imports. But many visitors seem to be spear-fishing or "Snorkling" fans, for the clear, warm sea is a year-round attraction.

Need To Take Stock

NO ONE CAN SAY for sure how much Communist influence lies behind the anti-American demonstrations in South America, Lebanon and Algeria. But even if the Kremlin leaders themselves pushed the button that touched off these almost simultaneous indignities against the United States, a much more significant factor is involved. The mere fact that it was possible to foment such demonstrations should make it clear that in the process of becoming the greatest power in the free world, we have so far failed to win the respect such power deserves.

NOWHERE WAS this more evident in the last few days than in Latin America, whose people we have regarded (and in many senses neglected) as our good neighbors to the south. The climactic violence in Venezuela, where Caracas mobs stoned Vice President Nixon's car and spat on him and his party, was undoubtedly Communist-inspired. But it was also apparent the non-Red majority of the fiery-tempered Latin mobs were giving vent to bitterness over the fact we have given sanctuary to ousted Venezuelan dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez and his hated police chief, Pedro Estrada.

UNDERLYING THIS open bitterness is a smoldering resentment, not only in Venezuela but in many another country, over rising tariffs, reduction of import quotas, slashes in foreign aid, our stony silence on stabilization of commodity prices. America has a right to be indignant over the way these resentments were aired. But we will not win the respect we need in Caracas, Beirut and Algiers by indignation alone. Our ultimate victory lies in a constructive, positive attitude that befits America's great power.

The Little Things

A CHARACTERISTIC of modern American living is the multiplicity of "things to do." Driving, boating, viewing and "spectatoring" are only a few of the activities that fill our lives and sometimes threaten even to encroach on proper sleep. The days when all we had were radio and gravel roads seem barren in comparison. Yet even this hurrying, scurrying complex of busyness has not done much to give a sense of fullness to our lives. It often seems that the faster we go and the harder we play, the further we get from the fundamental satisfactions of life—those satisfactions which provide the basic nurture for our souls, and peace for our minds. The poet-philosopher, George Santayana, had something to say on this score shortly before he died in 1951. Speculating on the pace of modern living, Santayana recalled that it was neither the hustle nor the bustle that interested him. These things he avoided. But the little things: a bit of quiet reading, letters to friends, even the repair of his clothing—these things sustained him, he said, and added content to his life. In the breathlessness of modern living it might be well to pay closer attention to these little pleasures of Santayana.

And Up Steps Stan

ON A CERTAIN afternoon in mid-May a sharp-eyed gent named Stan Musial, of the St. Louis Cardinals, stepped up to bat in Chicago and whammed a hard shot to the outfield for a pinch-hit double. That smash wasn't just another hit. It was the 3,000th of his illustrious major league career, and it put him in a select company of just seven other players who have managed the feat. Not even such baseball greats as Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Bill Terry and Rogers Hornsby brought it off. There could be no more deserving athlete than Musial. For some years now he has been going about the business of breaking batting records in his customary fashion — with intense concentration and high efficiency. Baseball is only a game, but anybody in any field of endeavor whatsoever could take a lesson from the way this man plays it. On the same day Musial got No. 3,000, a fellow named Pierre Pflimlin was going through the motions of forming a new government in France. Anybody like to bet whether Musial's or Pflimlin's name lasts longer in the record books?

Well Meaning And Well Doing Not The Same

WASHINGTON — Washington has now warmly expressed its relief and thanksgiving over the safe return of Vice-President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon and their party.

Even before they arrived efforts were under way to find out who shot Cock Robin. There was an immediate scramble by Congressional committees for the job of investigating the episode.

No disposition exists here to take the easy way out, which is to blame it all on the Communists. The President, the Vice-President and responsible members of Congress were agreed that stock-taking of the most serious and realistic kind was in order.

THE DEGREE of the surprise over what happened to the Vice-President is shown by the fact that his luckless journey completely overshadowed in the news and in official minds the far more serious word from France and Algeria.

The whole Western position in Europe is deeply affected by the French crisis and the possibility of the return to power of General Charles De Gaulle. Under ordinary circumstances Washington would be seething with unrest and alarm over the chance that a Hitlerian era may be dawning in the country which is the keystone of the Western defense against communism.

By chance, the disturbances in South America, France and the Middle East coincide with consideration by the Congress of two measures of critical importance to our relations both with our allies and with neutral nations—foreign aid and reciprocal trade.

FOREIGN AID passed the House in the very teeth of the most outrageous demonstrations of hostility against the United States by South America. Speaker Sam Rayburn has given his opinion that reciprocal trade also will be unaffected by the bad news, although it will still be hotly contested.

Present examples of the bitterness caused abroad by American economic policies may, in fact, prove of aid, for they have removed the issue from the realm of theory to dramatic fact.

PLANNERS of the Nixon trip had shown some inkling of the problem by avoiding a Nixon visit to Chile, where it was obvious that the increased United States tax on copper imports would make any American ceremonial visitor unwelcome. Chile's President recently cancelled a visit to Washington on the same grounds.

Why the same experts failed to recognize like problems in Venezuela, Peru and other Latin-American countries is a question to which Congress will demand an answer.

IT IS PERHAPS not generally realized that even American relations with Canada have been deteriorating. No American visitor to our North American neighbor is apt to be stoned or spat upon, but there is no mistaking the depth of feeling there which arises generally from the same economic causes.

In a sense, this unpleasant affair presents the Vice-President with a great opportunity. Of all those in the Administration, he has least cause now to deceive himself.

He now knows that just because this country means well, it does not necessarily follow that it is doing well. He was there and his voice will carry weight on this subject.

U. S. Info Centers Targets For Rioters

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Fifty-four U.S. Information Agency libraries and cultural centers in 21 foreign countries have been bombed, sabotaged, set fire to, mobbed or otherwise attacked in the last 10 years.

Responsibility cannot be placed against Communist agitators in every case. The most recent attack on a USIA information center in Algiers was by a French Loyalist mob.

Attacks on USIA libraries in Tripoli and Beirut, Lebanon, are attributed to a combination of pro-Nasser Arab rioters and Communists.

Crowd demonstrations against the USIA centers in Greece have been sparked by protests on the Cyprus incident.

In India, the Goa incident started trouble.

USIA director George Allen says, "Crowds attack U.S. buildings because we're biggest and strongest. They like to see the big fellow stub his toe."

President Eisenhower told his press conference that there was no single cause for these attacks.

But he identified the pattern of attack as a Communist habit.

IN ONE SENSE, this is the greatest tribute the Commies can pay to the effectiveness of U.S. Information Centers overseas in telling the American story and countering Communist propaganda. Communists want the libraries put out of business. And they jam Voice of America broadcasts.

Few people think of librarians as being in a particularly hazardous occupation. But the staffs of the 154 U.S. Information Center libraries in 64 countries are actually on the front line of the war against communism.

No American lives have been lost and no Americans have been seriously injured in these book-burning riots.

THE ATTACKS on Vice President Richard M. Nixon in Lima, Peru, and Caracas, Venezuela, are the closest approaches to violence against American citizens so far. But many native visitors to overseas American libraries have been injured.

One reason U.S. libraries are singled out for Communist attacks is that they are usually located in the busiest parts of foreign cities, to attract big crowds.

Last year nearly 12 million books were checked out of USIA lending libraries. The average was about four readers for every one of the three million books on the open shelves. About 380,000 of these books are in foreign languages. U.S. newspapers, magazines and reference works in English are also available.

POSTWAR Communist-type mob demonstrations against the United States began just 10 years ago. The first was rioting in Bogota, Colombia, April 9, 1948, disrupting the Pan-American Conference for three days.

Since that time there have been eight bombings of USIA libraries in Bagdad, Damascus, Buenos Aires, Tunis, Beirut, Saigon, Athens, and Oriente Province, Cuba.

Forty native visitors were injured by a hand grenade thrown in the USIA library at Beirut, March 19, 1951.

The U.S. library at Athens was almost completely destroyed by a high explosive incendiary on Nov. 14, 1957.

Six cases of sabotage have been reported in libraries. The usual device is an infernal machine or crude bomb placed on the shelves at night.

TWENTY cases of mob action damage against libraries are listed. Four were in Greece, three each in Yugoslavia and India, two each in Brazil and Lebanon. One each in Algeria, Iraq, Jordan, Tunisia, Venezuela, and Formosa.

The last — not of Communist origin — resulted in almost total wrecking of the U.S. embassy and information center in Taipei after the acquittal of Master Sergeant Robert Reynolds on charges of killing a native peeping Tom.

Nineteen other cases of harassment and minor damage to information centers are reported. Five were in Greece, four in Indonesia, three in South America, two each in Syria and Pakistan, one each in Austria, India and Egypt.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — The mid-teen adopted son of a lady of whom I am fond is in trouble with the law because he and two other young fellows, spreeing with air pistols and air guns, shot out some town lights, home owners' windows and chipped a tooth in the mouth of a young girl who was standing nearby minding her business. And thus, in a moment of juvenile explosion, Joan Crawford's long concealed personal tragedy comes out into the open.

MISS CRAWFORD, having no children of her own, adopted four across the years. A girl, then a boy, then twin girls. She gave them a home, affection, education and advantages. She did everything she could to make these children feel that she was their own mother, that they had a loving home and affectionate care.

As I read of young Christopher's troubles, I suddenly remembered a short paragraph from a letter Miss Crawford wrote me about four years ago, maybe five years: "I am writing this late at night, in bed, with the twins in sleeping bags on the floor at the foot of the bed.

"We got the sleeping bags for a trip we are all taking together up the coast to Oregon and Washington. But the bags no sooner were delivered here at the house than they decided that the only way they could sleep was in them and the only place they could sleep was in my room, at the foot of the bed. They are beautiful."

SHE SELDOM mentioned the four children in letters. Maybe that Christina was going to have to summer-school it one year to make up a course, or that Christina was eager to live in New York instead of California. Christopher was not often mentioned, because the sad truth is that although adopted as an infant of only a few weeks of age, he early began to show signs that he needed much care of the wisest kind.

At no time, even as the signs multiplied, did Joan Crawford think of giving up this troublesome child or of sending him back whence he came. She buckled down, hid her concern from the world and did the best she could for the boy. If nothing else, this course of conduct prevented publicity about the child and consequent harm to him. She was grim in her dedication to keeping him from harm.

WHEN SHE WAS married to Al Steele, chairman of the board of a soft drink corporation, the children properly were no part of the hoopla about that marriage. Hoopla is the portion of any marriage of a film empress and a corporation executive. She kept the children from publicity of all kinds, believing it not good for them. Nor did she claim any publicity for herself as a foster mother doing a job on four youngsters.

It is now revealed to the public that for a long time Christopher has lived at the home of a noted psychiatrist, under observation and treatment.

He got out the other night, bought some air-powered weapons, gathered other youths around him and they set out to shoot up the little Long Island town where the psychiatrist lives. Since the boy's arrest, he has been put in the psychiatric department of a noted New York hospital, pending arraignment.

YOU CAN SAY that three boys with powerful air guns shooting indiscriminately is a menace and a crime or you can say that kids will be kids and, after all, an air gun is not likely to do much more than splinter any glass objects its pellets meet. I am not suggesting either point of view, or any at all.

Joan was in Florida with Al when the thing happened. She was hysterical on the telephone at first, and her first inquiry was about the sum of the injuries to the girl shot in the tooth. Told that the tooth was only chipped, she sighed: "Thank God for that, at least."

Since, she has quieted down and is meeting her now public problem with good sense and intelligence. She wants no favors from the law or special dispensation by public opinion.

SHE ADOPTED four children and one turned out defective. She faces that problem and that obligation. She wants the boy properly cared for in whatever way seems best. If psychiatric treatment seems to be the best medical and legal opinion, she is willing for it to continue and, hopefully, succeed. If more profound mental treatment is indicated, she will accept that.

Her concern is that no more harm be done in a public way and that the best possible be done for a minor child. I think that is humane, reasonable and makes good sense.

I like this woman. I have liked her for a long time, a very long time. I respect her, admire her. I think she behaves with gallantry and brains. It is certainly my hope that the best possible for all be done. Because she is an actress and an adopted child has misbehaved in a dangerous way, I trust that public sympathy and not censure will be her reward. She has, to her utmost, done a good job for otherwise helpless children. Let us remember that.

Zsa Zsa Needs A New Coat

WASHINGTON—I hope I'm not misinterpreting the facts and insulting a curvy Hungarian, but it seems to me that the House of Representatives has voted in favor of Miss Zsa Zsa Gabor accepting gifts and asking no questions about who actually paid for them.

Miss Gabor (I say this in all admiration) is a lady with blonde hair, sex appeal and big blue eyes. It says here in her advertisments that she sings.

So she crooned a little last Christmas to Rafael Trujillo Jr., son of the Dominican dictator, and he presented her with a Mercedes Benz sports car, painted red, imported from Germany, and priced at $12,000. He then gave her a $17,000 chinchilla coat.

As Miss Gabor's mother pointed out: What do you expect a boy to give a girl like Zsa Zsa? Flowers?

WELL, SIR, it turned out that Representative Wayne L. Hays had been delving into our foreign aid program and he came up with the word that last year we spent $600,000 helping out the Dominican Republic.

What pained him was the fact that Rafael Jr. was in the United States, pursuing his education, with an allowance from his father of $50,000 a month for living expenses, guards, and incidentals like gifts for lovely ladies.

HAYS POINTED out that this amounted to exactly $600,000 a year. He charged, in effect, that our taxpayers gave the money to Papa, who turned it over to Junior. He said it would be cheaper if our government handed expensive baubles to Zsa Zsa direct, without the middlemen.

The gentleman from Ohio added that he didn't care if Junior was 29 years old, married, and the father of six. All this and a good deal more he said upon the floor of the House, which was considering the foreign aid bill.

This made the ambassador from the Dominican Republic sore. He sent telegrams to numerous Congressmen, saying that the $600,000 we forwarded to his island wasn't the same $600,000 that Junior spent. The latter $600,000, he insisted, was the senior Trujillo's money.

I didn't see the telegram, myself, you understand. I'm still quoting Hays. So he offered an amendment to the foreign aid bill, saying that not one cent of the cash henceforth would go to Trujillo, the elder.

ABOUT THEN, by rare coincidence, arrived Miss Gabor, herself, by flying machine from New York to appear in a capital night club. She said that Junior was an old friend. She said she'd had that Mercedes Benz now since last December and was growing weary of it. The chinchilla she brought with her, but she said she didn't wear it much because it was too delicate.

She said that she preferred older men to young ones, because they didn't use so much of her time, and she said, by the way, what kind of looking fellow is Hays? Informed that he is one of our best-looking Congressmen, though growing a little thin on top, Miss G. expressed interest in meeting him.

AT THIS moment the Congressmen across town were considering Hays' amendment. They were gallant gentlemen, almost everyone. They voted it down resoundingly.

So the Dominican Republic will continue to get its share of the aid money. This leaves Junior on something of a spot.

I'd suggest that he replace Zsa Zsa's dusty old Mercedes Benz with a shiny new one. He might also buy a new fur coat that a girl can wear without fear of rumpling it. With $50,000 a month coming in, he hardly could do less.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON—In the interest of mildness and throat-kindness I have been smoking only filtered opium of late. In addition to deep-down satisfaction, it has given me that certain feeling of being a man's man. In consequence I can face the increasing complexities of modern existence with a bright, idiotic, smile on my face.

As a reassured jackass, king size, I can look with equanimity upon the State Department's purported plan to impose new curbs upon the release of information to the American public. In my smoke-happy state I can encourage the State Department to quit the public service entirely and go into business for itself.

Often these days I'd just as lief our foreign-policymakers didn't tell me anything, anyway, because they seldom have much of a cherry nature to impart. Things are working out beautifully for them. The international situation is becoming so bad that John Foster Dulles is beginning to look good.

I CAN'T IMAGINE what news it fears could leak out that would be any more depressing than its present releases, but nevertheless the State Department seeks to limit the contacts between reporters and departmental news sources. It wants all public information sifted, screened, centered and censored through a Public Affairs Division. Reduced to lay language it means:

"We only want you to hear what we think is good for you."

This would be a happy state, and one devoutly to be desired, if we could trust the State Department's chief press censor to issue only "Cheery Outlooks," like Secretary Weeks, at Commerce. But there seems to be something about the diplomatic service that makes a person morbid. The censor might decide that good news wasn't good for us.

Why there's scarcely been a word out of the State Department about the improvement in Dulles over the world situation! 'Tis a gladsome story indeed of how he outmaneuvered the Russians on the summit conference proposal, but we probably won't hear of it until it is released in Moscow.

There were dark ages when the State Department reveled in secrecy, and the public accepted it. Then President Woodrow Wilson shocked the State Department-ers right out of their striped pants and spats by calling for "Open covenants openly arrived at." The careerists have been trying ever since to retrieve their lost coverings.

THE PURPORTED infringement of freedom of the press, if carried out at the State Department, should hearten and cheer foreign service people all over the world. In faraway places, to which we have exported democracy and the democratic notion that public officials should be accessible to the press, our envoys will feel duty bound to give inquiring newspapermen the bum's rush, snarling happily:

"This is the way we do it in Washington!"

It should provide the inspiration that would cause chancery doors to be slammed upon the press all over the world.

If the State Department's proposed news controller won't let us talk to anybody over there but him, we shall no longer be able to report, as we puff our filtered opium with wholesome enjoyment:

"Dulles looks good, like a summit-phobe should."

Cook Seeks Re-election To Maryland Legislature

Noel Speir Cook, local attorney, announced Saturday he will be a candidate for re-election to the House of Delegates on the Republican ticket in the May primary.

Cook was elected to the House of Delegates in 1946 and was re-elected in 1950 and 1954. During all sessions, he has served on the powerful House Judiciary Committee, together with various other committee and special legislative assignments.

Cook was born at Frostburg, and is descended from the Speir family which was among the early Scotch settlers of Lonaconing and long prominent in business in this county.

He is a graduate of Beall High School and Frostburg State Teachers College. Cook worked at Amcelle Plant of Celanese Corporation and taught school for a short time before entering the University of Maryland Law School. There he attended night classes, while working in the day at the Fidelity and Deposit Company in Baltimore as assistant to Theodore R. McKeldin, present governor of Maryland.

While at the university Law School, he was president of the Junior Class and in his senior year distinguished himself by winning the Honor Case, most coveted prize in law school.

He passed the Maryland Bar Association examination a few months after his graduation and became associated with the Baltimore law firm of Keech, Deming, Carman and Tucker before returning to Frostburg to start his practice in this county.

NOEL SPEIR COOK

He was attorney for the Town of Lonaconing for a number of years and is a past president of the Allegany County Bar Association.

Cook is a member of the Young Men's Republican Club of Frostburg and was the first Frostburg member of Cumberland Chapter, Order of DeMolay. He is a 32nd degree Mason and a member of the Elks, Eagles, Tall Cedars, Ali Ghan Shrine, El Fidel Club, Maplehurst Country Club and Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity.

He is married to the former Ann Ruddle, of Franklin, W. Va., and they reside in Frostburg where they attend St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Handling the affairs of Allegany County is a Big Job!

Sigel Heads B'er Chayim Congregation

B'es Chayim Temple congregation last night elected David Sigel as its president.

Others installed were Leonard Schwab, vice president; Maurice Milberg, recording secretary, and Bertram Lazarus, financial secretary.

Named to the board of trustees were Milton Beneman, Clarence Lippel, Rudolph Mendelsohn, Mrs. Martha Peskin, Irving Millenson and Max Spear.

Spear, retiring president, expressed his thanks to all those who helped him last year.

The new president, who is manager of the National Loan Company, expressed hope that a spiritual leader will be found soon. The congregation has been without a rabbi for a year.

Chairmen of the various committees made their reports for the past year following the installation of the officers.

The dinner was prepared by the sisterhood of the congregation with Mrs. Simon Rosenbaum II as chairman of the committee.

STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE

For Experienced Representation RE-ELECT Lester "Buster" REED

Republican to the HOUSE OF DELEGATES

I submit my record for your consideration and if re-elected will conscientiously endeavor to merit your continued support.

Statement by State Senator SEE

I have served in both houses of the General Assembly and have had vast experience in the Legislative Halls at Annapolis. For nine years I served as Chairman of the Allegany County Delegation, being chosen for that position by my fellow Delegates. In both the House of Delegates and the State Senate I have been appointed to and have served on all major committees. I have served on committees of the Legislative Council and have personally appeared before that body in the interest of County legislation.

I shall continue to work for better roads, highways and bridges in Allegany County. During another term I hope to see the completion of the vast highway program with modern bridges at Wiley Ford and Pinto, both of which are presently safety hazards.

I will continue to urge the development of the recreational potential of our County, just as the State has done in other areas.

Having been in the forefront of the battle to help Frostburg State Teachers' College, I favor expansion of this institution so that a Liberal Arts, as well as, an educational program will be offered. This will enable the College to graduate high school teachers, in addition to junior high and elementary teachers.

I am determined that the money cut from the Capital Bond Bill for Allegany County shall be restored. This will enable the Teachers' College to obtain the buildings that they need.

Through the years I have worked and voted for the budget requests for the Miners' Hospital, including the appropriation for the new addition, and I favor continued State maintenence of this Hospital, which is necessary for the people living in Frostburg and the Georges Creek area.

I have been and will continue to be a champion of fair labor legislation. Experience shows that labor laws ultimately help everyone.

Through my efforts, as sponsor of the Bill that set up a Civil Service system for Allegany County employees, 250 families now have security which was lacking previously when County jobs depended on the outcome of elections every four years. This also insures that the County will have dependable and reliable people who are experienced in handling their jobs.

One of my aims and achievements as a Legislator has been to see that handicapped persons become self-supporting citizens, not depending on charity or selling pencils on street corners. A handicapped person properly placed on a job becomes a tax payer, not a tax burden.

Last, but not least, I have consistently supported the Veterans' Legislation, including the Bonus Bill and I urge all veterans to check and compare my voting record on veteran legislation.

I have consistently supported public education, including the increase in teachers' salaries to meet the higher living costs. Teachers, examine and compare my record.

I am confident that I can continue to serve the best interests of the people of Allegany County and I believe that my record warrants your continued support.

LABOR NEEDS JIM MANN

Railway Labor's Political League endorsed Jim Mann for Congress, saying: "We have a high regard for Jim Mann's background in international affairs. . . Any time we can add to Congress a man with real experience. . .we ought to do it. Mann's candidacy gives us such an opportunity." Jim Mann has vigorously criticized the administration for not putting the railroads back on their feet. Jim Mann will work for an end to the unemployment in the 6th District and the nation. Chevalier Should Bottle His Charm; Mr. Ballantyne Gave Steve Allen Show Needed Comedy Boost

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK—(INS)—Maurice Chevalier (Sullivan show) exuded so much charm he really should bottle it; just wonderful. . .

Ida Lupino and Howard Duff with Dinah did two skits, the first supposed to be straight and the second confused, but the first also turned out confused and there went that premise. . .

Ogden Nash's Kankakee poem was swankakee fun. . .

Mr. Ballantyne was funny on the Allen show, which needed a comedian. . .

Sallie Blair sings a fine imitation of Lena Horne, but just an imitation.

It was politico-topical-joke night: Jack E. Leonard with a Nixon-in-armor joke; Ginger Rogers with a Venezuela-Nixon joke; Ida Lupino with a Trujillo-Zsa Zsa allusion. . .

The $64,000 Challenge is getting just plain dull and empty, and not because of Ralph Story, who is a good emcee. . .

Fred Caposella's Preakness trackside race call was beautifully effective. . .

CBS-TV repeated the race almost immediately via TV tape and it was miraculously lifelike.

Dinah Shore's losing her tasteful producer Bob Banner to CBS, reportedly over a hassle between Banner and Henry Jaffe, who really owns the show—not Dinah.

Dinah gets about $15,000 per show in TV salary, we're advised, but it's Jaffe's corporation—and in Banner's case, Dinah's deep loss. . .

The Polly Bergen show tried to have fun with Dick Van Dyke and Mike Stokey-style charades but neither Dick nor the charades nor Polly added up to major league TV talent.

Carol Lawrence of "West Side Story" in her opening Sullivan show gambit (to "I Won't Dance") was modern poetry in stylish motion; reminded us of a 1958 version of Nell O'Day and the Tommy Atkins' sextet from "Fine & Dandy," which also was a lovely gal swishing through a slick song-dance with escorts in tails. . .

"Climax" will be scuttled but the sponsor signed Bill Lundigan (jack him up and build a whole new show under him). . .

Tina Robin, the new red hot mama, gets the singing star spot in "Sing Along," the quiz-variety whatzis being stuck together by Harry Sosnick and some "Big Record" refugees. . .

Jim Lowe will emcee and Florence Henderson and Somethin' Smith & The Redheads will be in the cast. . .

Starts June 4, Wednesdays. . .

Railroad Constructing Salt Lake Causeway

LITTLE VALLEY, Utah—(AP)—The Southern Pacific Railroad is building an earth-fill causeway across the Great Salt Lake to replace the railway's 13-mile long wooden trestle that spans the lake at the Lucin Cutoff in Northern Utah.

The new causeway is expected to be completed by 1960.

No One Knows Thoughts Of A-Spy Prisoner Fuchs

By TOM OCHILTREE

LONDON (AP) — Every dragging hour at Wakefield Prison brings Dr. Klaus Fuchs closer to freedom with his mind still filled with the mathemitcal symbols of the atomic age.

No one knows what is in the heart of this onetime communist who betrayed the West's atomic secrets.

Fuchs is a closed mouthed trusty who never gets in trouble.

Bells clang through the prison at 6:15 a.m. The shy scientist, now 46, fumbles for his thick spectacles, dresses and trudges through another day.

If he receives the usual time off for good behavior, Fuchs will walk out July, 1959.

American and British sources agree he possesses no secret knowledge of immediate value in nuclear research. He has been locked up too long. Nation's have made giant strides in this field since Fuchs in 1950 drew a 14-year term for passing atomic information to the Russians. He got the maximum sentence on the charge under Britain's Official Secrets Act.

No one questions that Fuchs could return to the forefront of nuclear research.

Western science could suffer a loss if he goes East. If he stays this side of the Iron Curtain the West will gain if—a big if—he can be trusted again and if he is willing to work.

In prison Fuchs has done the usual jobs, sewing mail bags and cleaning cells. As a model prisoner he has been allowed to organize classes. He has tried to do everything from teaching reading and writing to developing an appreciation of art and literature.

No one knows whether he has attempted in his cell to think out new theories of physics.

The British Government has made no statement about his future. It says personal affairs of prisoners never are discussed.

Industry's Efforts May Bear Fruit In Future Economy

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Halfway through the year's second quarter what steps are being taken to halt or reverse the recession in the highly industrialized sections of the nation? And how are they working?

At government level: The supply of credit and money has been increased and interest rates lowered; mortgage terms have been liberalized; awarding of federal contracts, especially for defense, has been speeded.

At industry's level: Sales efforts have been stiffened, accompanied in some cases by lower prices or by discounts; cost cutting is fashionable; efforts to bring output in line with demand and to trim inventories is widespread.

Are they working?

More and cheaper money hasn't halted the decline in business bank loans nor noticeably induced business to resume the free spending habits of previous years. But it has brought about a condition that will be highly favorable to business once it is ready again to step forward.

And it has helped state and local governments to sell a record volume of securities to finance such civic improvements as schools and water systems. The U. S. Treasury's cost of servicing an increasing total of federal debt has been held in check.

More liberal mortgage terms, plus a greater supply of investment funds, have strengthened the home building industry. They are bringing out some marginal customers who couldn't find or afford the funds for home buying when money was tight and dear.

Speeding up the awarding of federal defense contracts and plans for super highways haven't done much for the economy yet. The hard cash will be pumped into the economy only months hence when the goods are being delivered and newly ordered roads being built.

Industry's own efforts may have helped slow the rate of decline in business but some of these efforts, too, will take effect later. Right now some may seem to be more of a cause than a cure of present ills.

That's why the majority of business men who are speaking out these days seem to think that although the turn in the tide is inevitable, it is some time off yet.

New Mexico's first civilian territorial governor, Charles Bent, was scalped and murdered in his home in Taos during a brief Indian uprising in 1847.

U. S. Holds Own With Reds At Fair

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Art Linkletter, first American entertainer to return from the Brussels Worlds Fair, says we're holding our own against the free - spending Russians.

Though the Russian exhibit is much bigger and costlier, the United States entry is doing as good a job, he remarked.

"The Russian building is overpowering in its size," said Linkletter. "There are displays of tremendous machinery and propaganda slogans everywhere. It is effective in its way.

"But I think our building does a fine job. There have been some complaints about what has been selected, but that's natural. American means something different to every American.

"We haven't tried to overpower the Fair visitors. For instance, "There have been complaints about the food we are serving—hot dogs, hamburgers, cheese cake, etc. But I see nothing wrong with that. Why should we have a swank restaurant, as the other nations do? We couldn't outdo them in excellence of food. Nor could we serve as many people as we're doing now."

Linkletter spent three days at the Fair, filming segments for his "People are Funny" and "Houseparty" TV shows. But he's no sketchy viewer of fairs. Art helped stage the San Francisco and San Diego Worlds Fairs, assisted with those at Houston, Dallas and Cleveland.

"So I know what I'm talking about," he said. "I viewed the Brussels Fair with an eye toward ease of handling a volume of visitors, etc. And I must say that the Belgians have done a fantastic job. It is one of the best operated fairs I have ever seen."

"The buildings could be permanent attractions," he said. "We have the only big theater in the Fair, and it is a magnificent place. It could be a real showplace for years to come."

Red Cross Convention Opens In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — The 33rd annual convention of the American Red Cross opens in San Francisco today.

Some 4,000 delegates from 3,000 local chapters are attending the three-day affair.

In a pre-convention report last night, National Disaster Director Robert C. Edson warned that floods and other catastrophies in the last three years have seriously depleted the organization's relief funds.

Edson said that only $3,500,000 in disaster funds are available for the remainder of the current fiscal year, which ends June 30.

Delegates will discuss a 95-million-dollar fund raising drive for the coming year during the convention of which at least 10 millions will be required for relief work alone.

Edson pointed out that the organization's officers are often asked "why millions of dollars are needed to provide coffee and doughnuts."

Those who ask, said Edson, "don't realize the Red Cross gives individual family care, including clothing, maintenance, the building and repair of homes and household furnishings."

Edson asserted that sizeable contributions will be needed through the summer months in anticipation of floods and tornadoes in the East and Midwest.

Town Honors Woman Flyer

ATCHISON, Kan. (AP)—The late aviatrix, Amelia Earhart, was remembered by friends and relatives in her home town Sunday, as they dedicated a marker at an airport named in her honor.

The 8½-foot marble marker, with a ceramic figure and metal plaque, were unveiled by Amelia's sister, Mrs. Muriel Earhart Morrissey of Medford, Mass., a high school English teacher. Mrs. Morrissey brought greetings from Amelia's 92-year-old mother.

Nearly 2,000 persons attended the ceremony.

The memorial was dedicated by Mrs. Blanche Noyes, of Washington, D. C., chief of the air marking staff of the Civil Aeronautics Administration and a close friend of Miss Earhart.

Candidates Facing End Of Campaign

More Than 25,000 Democrats Expected To Vote In Primary

Maryland's Republican and Democratic candidates put in a final day of campaigning today and prepared to await the verdict of the voters in tomorrow's primary election.

More than 325,000 Democrats and about 50,000 Republicans are expected to go to the polls throughout the state to select candidates for the November general election.

In the 23 counties, the polling booths will open at 7 a.m. tomorrow and close at 7 p.m. Polls in Baltimore will open at 6 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. Persons in line at the closing time will be permitted to vote.

More than 1,500 Maryland candidates are vying for public offices ranging from county surveyor to governor and U. S. senator.

Unit Votes Count

Actually, the victory in tomorrow's primary will go to the candidates getting the most unit votes in the State convention. Unit votes are apportioned among the counties and Baltimore legislative districts.

The candidate with the most votes in a county or district will receive all the unit votes and the one with the most unit votes across the state will win the nomination.

This, of course, affects statewide candidates and will have great bearing on the most interesting contest — the Democratic race for the U. S. Senate nomination.

There are seven candidates in this race, but only four of them are conceded any real chance of winning—Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, George P. Mahoney, James Bruce and Clarence D. Long.

These four have made extensive tours of the counties and more recently concentrated on the Baltimore area. All have expressed confidence in winning the nomination.

Baltimore Sweep Seen

Bruce said "I feel confident of victory." Mahoney said his nomination "will give the Democratic Party a new lease on life." Mahoney supporters speak confidently of winning most of the counties and four of the six Baltimore districts.

Backers of D'Alesandro claim the mayor will sweep Baltimore and, with the help of J. Millard Tawes, win enough counties to come out on top.

Tawes is the Democratic candidate for governor on the harmony ticket and the mayor's running mate. He has solid support from nearly every party organization in the state and is an odds-on favorite to beat two relatively unknowns—Joseph A. Phillips and Morgan L. Amaimo.

Mahoney's headquarters issued a statement predicting "close to 50 per cent of the registered Democrats will go to the polls" tomorrow—a relatively high figure. He continued his tour of Baltimore today.

Pounding Away

Long, a newcomer to politics, pounded away at national issues on the eve of the voting. He charged that "the one unifying feature of all State Department blunders in the Near East has been the consistency with which they have helped the enemies of the United States and Israel."

He called for a "forthright approach to encouraging, supporting and assisting every politically Democratic and economically constructive government which can be found in that area."

The winner in the senatorial race will probably meet Sen. J. Glenn Beall, the Republican incumbent, in the November election. Beall is expected to have little trouble winning the GOP nomination over Henry L. Laque, an Anne Arundel County junk dealer.

The Republican candidate for governor is Rep. James P. Devereux of the 2nd congressional district. Since he is unopposed, his name will not appear on the ballot.

Six Unopposed

The Democratic race for State comptroller could turn out to be a surprise or possibly, as some observers feel, an upset. Louis L. Goldstein, president of the State Senate, is opposed by Joseph L. Manning of Baltimore.

Goldstein is one of the four harmony candidates and should profit from the statewide upport given Tawes. Manning campaigned throughout the state quiet-

Eyes Of Nation Focus On Sports Car Races

By EUGENE P. BROWN
Evening Times Staff Writer

The National Sports Car Races at the Cumberland Airport yesterday were perfect—the Weather Man cooperated with sunny skies and the crowd was the largest since the event was stated seven years ago.

More than 45,000 persons attended the racing program and parking space for an additional three to four thousand cars was provided by utilizing the area behind the snow fence along the starting line and a section on the hillside behind the hangers along the main runway.

The Cumberland Lions Club, sponsors of the event, operated five concession stands and the airport management had a stand at the main office building area.

Checking on Sales

Just how many hot dogs, ham sandwiches, soft drinks and milk drinks and ice cream sticks were sold will not be known until a final check is completed in a few days.

Everywhere one went could be heard the lingo of the sports car devotees. The people to whom the little cars are a mystery went about asking questions about gas consumption, horsepower and the purchase price.

Several years ago an estimate was made that the sports cars which were driven here by the spectators alone cost a total in the millions of dollars. Even the least costly machine runs to about $1,500 and the Jaguars, Mercedes Benz, Maselti and similar cars will go much higher.

From Many States

Sports cars from California, Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania, New York, Virginia, Florida, Illinois and many other states could be spotted in the parking areas. There were many more conventional autos from out of state points.

Most popular attire among the women and girls at the races was shorts and blouses and sweaters. Sports caps and slack and sweater ensembles were the principal type clothing worn by the men. Some men wore walking shorts.

An idea of the measures taken to provide for the safety of the crowd was the erection of 6,500 feet of snow fencing along the route of the 1.6-mile race course. The racing course had seven turns with the trickiest being the S curve in front of the judges stand.

Several Racers Spin

Several of the racers went into spins on the various curves. The officials handling the races at the curves did a magnificent job in flagging down the onrushing cars when one of the machines went into the spin at these turns.

National coverage of the event was excellent with metropolitan newspapers, TV stations and radio outlets sending representatives here to report the program.

After the last race, the Edgar D. Vandegrift Memorial Race was over shortly after 5 p.m., it took more than two hours for the estimated 15,000 cars parked at the airport to clear the area. Highways north, east, west and south from Cumberland were jammed with autos, both sports cars and conventional types, as the fans made their way to their home towns.

Romney Area Mishaps Take Three Lives

Three men were killed in two separate automobile accidents late Saturday night along U. S. Route 50 in Hampshire County.

Victims of the mishaps were Ralph Vernon Ganoe, 24, Brentwood, Md., David E. Barnes, 33, Clover Manor, Md., who were riding together, and Eugene Stanley Hott, 38, Slanesville, W. Va., who was killed three hours prior to the Ganoe crash.

Trooper C. E. Dorsey, who investigated the double fatal crash said Ganoe was ascending Ebenezer Mountain near Romney when he crashed into the back of a truck that was carrying a tractor.

The truck, owned by Paul Nessetrod of Elk Garden, W. Va., was being driven by Lynwood C. Sharpless, of Kitzmiller. No charges have been made.

Ganoe and Barnes were brothers-in-law and were apparently visiting relatives in Hampshire County.

Ganoe was born in Hampshire County, and was a son of Melvin J Ganoe, Augusta, and Gertrude (Lewis) Ganoe, Brentwood. He was employed as a construction worker.

Also surviving besides his parents are a sister, Mrs. Anna Barnes, Brentwood, who also is the widow of David E. Barnes, who was killed in the accident; and two brothers, Lewis, Washington, D. C., and Loudon Ganoe, Brentwood.

Services will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Baptist Church at Three Churches. Rev. Warren Shields, pastor of Romney Baptist Church, will officiate and burial will be in Three Churches Cemetery.

The body is at the Shaffer Funeral Home, Romney.

Mr. Hott, operator of the Midway Tavern on Route 50, was killed instantly when his vehicle crashed at the intersection of Route 50 and West Virginia Route 45, a mile east of Augusta.

He was a son of Mrs. Hilda (Haines) Hott, Slanesville, and the late Elza Hott and had been a lifelong resident of Slanesville.

Also surviving besides his mother, are his widow, Audrey (Iser) Hott; two step-daughters, Janet and Darlene, both at home; five brothers, Coy, Ebensburg, Pa.; Delmer, Flushing, Mich., and Russell, Ersil and Lindbergh, all of Augusta; and five sisters, Mrs. Virginia Kaylor, Inwood, W. Va.; Mrs. Opal Wolford, Cap-

City Workers Ask Pay Hike, Air Problems

Local 812, Municipal Employes Union, today requested consideration of pay increases for its employes and a discussion of grievances involving employes at Lake Gordon's water plant.

C. L. Shipes, president, wrote to council that there "seems to be some surplus money in various departments with only a month or so to go in this fiscal year." He said municipal union employes had had no increase for three years and have been patient while industries granted pay boosts to meet the cost of living.

Shipes' claim of surpluses in some accounts brought a motion from Commissioner William H. Buchholtz that the union be asked to advise the city auditor where they thought the surpluses to be and that City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson then make a report to council.

Gibson said "the auditor hasn't seen any surpluses."

On the vote, Mayor Roy W. Eves opposed and the report motion was approved 3-1.

The Lake Gordon situation involves wages and the union feels the men there should be paid the same as other city employes doing similar work.

LaVale Lions Acquire Area For Park Site

Haystack Mountain Location Ideal For Recreational Uses

The LaVale Lions Club has formed a foundation and has proceeded with the acquisition of a recreational area in that community.

The LaVale Lions Foundation Inc. has been incorporated and will have the duty of overseeing the development or the park.

Carl O. Belt, one of the three subscribers to the foundation, said a 50-acre tract of land located on the side of Haystack Mountain has been acquired from Clifford Goodfellow.

The area is located from the old reservoir behind B Street and runs westward along the side of the mountain, taking in both the abandoned railroads. The C&P Railroad and the Georges Creek and Cumberland Railroad.

Foundation Sponsors

The foundation will be the sponsors of this park and Belt said assistance will be received from the various civic organizations for its development.

The Lions Club pointed out the project is a community affair, with the foundation being the coordinator.

The tract has been surveyed and the deed has been signed by the foundation after a substantial down payment was placed.

There is a plot of ground in the tract that could be leveled for a ball field, and there are numerous spots for scenic overlooks.

The area may be reached by driving on the old Georges Creek right-of-way.

Broom Sale Tomorrow

The foundation's subscribers, besides Belt, are W. Edward Solomon and Dr. C. S. Beamer.

The organization's articles of incorporation state it is for the operation of projects, programs, undertakings designed to improve the educational, civic, social and cultural interests of the community, and to operate parks or other facilities. Belt is listed as resident agent of the foundation.

The Cumberland Lions Club has the Cumberland Lions Foundation which dispenses the proceeds of its sports car races for charitable purposes.

The LaVale Lions Club will conduct its annual fund raising drive, the sale of brooms, in the community tomorrow.

Del. Hughes Hits Sunday Liquor Sales

Del. George R. Hughes Jr. said today he wants to make it clear he is opposed to selling alcoholic beverages on Sunday.

He said many people apparently have a wrong impression about his attitude on the question because of a petition submitted to General Assembly candidates by the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

Hughes, who is running for Republican nomination to the State Senate against incumbent Senator Charles M. See, said the questionnaire he received made no reference to extension of selling hours into Sunday morning.

He said the questionnaire asked only whether the candidate favored or opposed "liberalization of the existing liquor laws for Allegany County, and in particular the extension of hours for selling." No mention of Sunday sales was made.

Could Not Complete

Hughes said he replied in a letter to the Ministerial Association May 8 that he could not complete the questionnaire because "I would be binding myself in all events to one side of an issue before an opportunity has been given allowing advocates on both sides to state their views and their reasons therefore."

He also told the ministers that the right of citizens to petition their representatives "would be most hollow if those representatives have already committed themselves in advance of such a hearing."

"I have been advised by a member of your organization that my opponent had committed himself even before I received your letter and questionnaire, and that one of his advisors is urging your association to push this matter. However, I doubt that my opponent's commitment disclosed that he stated during the 1957 session of the Legislature he would support a bill liberalizing the liquor laws in Allegany County. While I certainly acknowledge my opponent's right to commit himself without allowing all citizens an opportunity to present their views, I challenge the consistency of his declared present position and his position in 1957 on the same subject.

"I trust this entire matter is not being motivated by a desire to use the Cumberland Ministerial Association for political purposes."

Position Misunderstood

"We expect to do all that we can to be helpful to you in Maryland and we trust that you will be reelected by a goodly margin."

Beall said a letter from H. E. Gilbert, international president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, wrote:

Council Drops Proposal For Street Work

Frederick Street Residents Oppose Improvement Project

The Mayor and Council turned down an ordinance for the improvement of Frederick Street from Henderson Avenue east today after a petition signed by a majority of residents in the area to be affected voiced opposition.

Representatives of the petitioners said they did not want the street widened.

And before the lengthy discussion was finished, Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz told the group he would see that a light-surface treatment was applied when weather permits.

The area which would have been widened, surfaced, curbed and guttered along with necessary storm sewers constructed extended 2,650 feet east from Henderson.

It was proposed by the city and designed to make the city eligible for federal aid in event the ordinance was approved.

House Damaged

Originally, the Frederick Street situation came to light when L. V. Lowery of the 700 block reported to council that vibrations from heavy traffic were causing damages to his property. Lowery did not ask that the entire area be paved but asked only improvements to the block in which he resided.

Mayor Roy W. Eves explained to the Frederick Street group that Lowery's is an unusual situation since his home is constructed on a rock shelf which extends into the street. There are no others like it there, the Mayor added, and the situation is one over which Lowery has no control. In fact, Lowery probably has a justified complaint, the Mayor added.

Lowery thanked the Mayor for explaining his side of the problem and added he did not ask that the entire street be paved. He said he only wanted relief for his dwelling.

Speak In Opposition

Among those speaking out in opposition to the ordinance today were John Fallon, J. Douglas Heron, Benjamin W. O'Rourke, Vernon Loy, Harry Cloni, Richard Cloni and W. H. Naughton.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said he admitted that in some cases the result of getting federal aid costs more in the long run, but explained that specifications contained in the ordinance presented today were those of the federal government and not those of the city. The major specification was widening the street to 32 feet which would have required reducing the width of the sidewalks.

Eves pointed out that when the ordinance was first brought up, he had proposed that the problem be handled on a block-to-block basis and that he still felt the same.

Buchholtz said the intent of the ordinance was to get federal aid and that he and City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum had attempted to work out a program to get it. He said that to get such aid, it had to be an entire project and could not be a block-to-block proposition.

However, Buchholtz added, since the majority was opposed, he was voting against the ordinance.

The final vote was unanimous in opposition.

Earlier, Finan had explained that the city had used studies by experts, including the 1950 traffic survey, as one of the basic reasons for seeking federal aid on such projects. He said the studies indicate excessive traffic by 1970 and the necessity for wider streets.

Harmony Slate Backers Optimistic Of Victory

Indications are that the Democratic harmony ticket will score a sweeping victory in tomorrow's primary election, according to Simon F. Reilly, county campaign chairman.

The harmony ticket of J. Millard Tawes for governor, Thomas D'Alesandro for U.S. Senate, Louis Goldstein for state comptroller and Ferdinand C. Sybert for attorney general has been waging an intensive drive to weld together the Democratic party in Maryland and believe that by so doing will insure a victory come the general election in November, Reilly added.

Reilly said he wished to thank everyone who contributed their efforts on behalf of the ticket, which was selected in order to promote harmony in the ranks of the Democratic party and is representative of every section of the state.

"It is this harmony ticket which Tawes wants as his running mates in the general election in November," Reilly declared. " In order to insure a Democratic victory in November we should nominate the harmony ticket in its entirety," Reilly concluded.

VETERAN LEGIONNAIRES — Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, honored its veteran members at a program Saturday night at the home. The program also was in honor of Russell C. Paupe, who is serving his 23rd term as adjutant of the post. Among those honored, seated left to right, were Dr. F. A. G. Murray, John J. Biggs, Harry E. Flook, James K. Moreland, Thomas A. Darr, Allan T. Hirsh and Benjamin F. Divico. Standing, same order, are Paupe ,Thomas F. Conlon, Richard G. Duvall, Grant A. Wiebel, Perry Rosenmarkel, Louis P. Lutz, Samuel D. Drubeck, Gerald E. Allnoch and Harry C. Aaron. All are charter members of the post, except Lutz, who is a 35-year member.

D'Alesandro Leads In County Primary Poll

The political science classes at George Washington University have completed a poll in the Sixth Congressional District of Maryland which reveals Thomas D'Alesandro well in the lead in Allegany County for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate.

The poll reveals D'Alesandro leading George P. Mahoney by a margin of 25 per cent. Millard J. Tawes was far in the lead for the nomination for governor, in Allegany County, while John R. Foley led by a wide majority in the contest for Congress. No tabulation was made for the office of comptroller.

The poll, university spokesmen said, was conducted as a class exercise to acquaint students with the working of public opinion polls, and the complexities of using random sampling methods in selecting persons to be polled.

The spokesmen stressed that the poll does not reflect the feelings or opinions of the students, the faculty or the administration of George Washington University.

Copies of the report have been mailed to all candidates whose names appeared on the questionnaire used in the interviewing.

ly but effectively enough to find support in several counties and some districts in Baltimore.

A third candidate for comptroller, Sydney London of Baltimore, has not campaigned very actively.

The fourth member of the harmony slate—Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert—is unopposed for renomination. The Republicans have named Robert A. Wallace, Montgomery County lawyer, to face Sybert in the November election.

All seven of Maryland's seats in the House of Representatives are up for grabs this year, but six incumbents are unopposed in tomorrow's primary.

They are Reps. Edward T. Miller and Dewitt S. Hyde, Republicans, and Reps. Edward A. Garmatz, George H. Fallon, Richard E. Lankford and Samuel N. Friedel, Democrats.

The Republicans have selected J. Fife Symington Jr. for the seat now held by Devereux. He will face the winner of the Democratic primary contest between Daniel Brewster and Peter Aiello.

Del. Hughes

that he received on Friday a post card which was unsigned, but presumably sent by the Ministerial Association. The card said:

"The Cumberland Ministerial Association is concerned with the movement to extend the hours for the selling of liquor into Sunday morning. Candidates for the Maryland General Assembly have been polled as to their views concerning the extension of hours for selling. The following candidates have expressed themselves as being opposed to any extension: (list of names). The following replied but did not commit themselves: (list of names). One unsigned opinion was returned. The remaining candidates did not reply."

Mr. Hughes was listed as one of those replying but not committing themselves.

In a statement yesterday, he said:

"Many people who received identical postal cards have, as a result of the information set forth above, asked why I would not commit myself on the question of extending the hours for selling liquor into Sunday morning. They, and possibly many others, are of the impression that selling liquor on Sunday was one of the questions submitted to candidates.

Completely In Error

"While I am certain that the Cumberland Ministerial Association did not intentionally wish to convey this impression, still it is completely in error, and fairness dictates that each candidate's position on this question as well as his general fitness to hold public office be judged on correct rather than incorrect impressions.

"The question of whether liquor shall be sold legally at all has been answered affirmatively with the adoption and ratification of the Twenty-First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

"While this amendment does not make a distinction between Sunday and other days, I am one who believes that Sunday is a day special and apart from others. I believe it is a day on which to pray, read, meditate and rest: a day during which special attention should be given to reaffirming and strengthening our belief in God and those teachings He has set forth for our guidance; a day on which we should seek to elevate ourselves toward the Heavenly goal He offers to us.

"As a matter of personal moral and religious conviction, I believe the extension of the sale of liquor into Sunday is wrong because it violates the ageless admonition to 'Keep the sabbath day to sanctify it, as the Lord thy God has commanded thee.' Therefore, I would not support any move to extend hours for the selling of liquor into Sunday morning. However, I was not previously asked this question by the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

"In closing, where proposed legislation does not conflict with God's law, as a person representing all of the people of Allegany County, I have a responsibility to hear all those who are interested in the matter before deciding to support or oppose it."

MOUNDSVILLE (AP)—The last of five tubercular convicts who fled from Hopemont Sanitarium was flushed at gunpoint from the basement of his sister's home here Saturday by a posse of city, county and prison authorities.

He was Walter White, 35, sentenced to life as an habitual criminal from Marshall County.

Authorities, acting on a tip that White was in the neighborhood, surrounded the house with drawn guns. He surrendered without a struggle and was taken to the State Penitentiary hospital for treatment for frozen feet. White told police his feet froze while he made his way here from the mountainous area at Terra Alta, site of the sanitarium.

White and the four other convicts were confined in a security ward at the sanitarium for treatment of tuberculosis. They escaped May 7 in pajamas and robes. Three of the escapees were picked up last week in Whitley County, Ky. by officers making a routine check of cars.

Broiler Group Plans Program Expansion

MORGANTOWN—Plans for an expanded broiler production program in West Virginia will be presented at an industry-wide meeting tomorrow at Blackwater Falls Lodge near Davis, according to W. D. Tuckwiller, Lewisburg, president of the West Virginia Poultry Association.

Spearheaded by the Poultry Association, committees have been at work for several weeks studying the broiler situation in West Virginia and preparing recommendations for future action. These reports were adopted at a special steering committee meeting held April 29-30, and plans were made to present the program to an industry-wide meeting to be held May 20.

In explaining the need for the program, Tuckwiller pointed out that the broiler industry in West Virginia has lagged in modernizing practices and in developing more efficient operations. As a result, some of the newer broiler-producing areas in the South have moved into some of the markets normally filled by West Virginia broilers.

"For West Virginia to remain an important segment of the broiler industry," Tuckwiller emphasized, "we must modernize our broiler housing, bring our management practices up to date, provide the necessary financing, and make more efficient the marketing, processing and servicing of the industry."

The broiler industry in the Mountain State is a sizeable one, producing some 25 million broilers each year and involving producers, processors, feed dealers, hatcherymen, financial institutions and others.

Interested persons from these groups are to be guests of the West Virginia Poultry Association at a luncheon meeting tomorrow at 1 p.m. (EST) at Blackwater Falls Lodge. Reservations should be made with either Tuckwiller or Wilson H. Smith, Petersburg, executive secretary, West Virginia Poultry Association.

State Poultry Meet Set At Moorefield

MORGANTOWN — The sixteenth annual West Virginia poultry convention and festival will be held at Moorefield, Hardy County, July 30-August 1, according to Harold M. Hyre, associate poultry husbandman at West Virginia University, who heads the publicity committee for the event.

W. D. Tuckwiller of Lewisburg, Greenbrier County, president of the West Virginia Poultry Association, said the convention is being held during the week of the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Department's Poultry Festival.

Highlights of the three-day affair will include the annual business meeting of the Poultry Association on the afternoon of July 30; the beauty pageant and the crowning of a Poultry Queen and a Broiler King for 1958 on the evening of July 30; a two-day educational program on July 31-August 1; a parade of floats and bands on the evening of July 31 and, finally, a huge chicken barbecue will be held Friday evening, August 1, followed by the Poultry Queen's Ball.

The program committee, headed by Ted R. Hash, Extension poultryman at WVU, is working on the educational program for the convention, Hyre pointed out.

As in former years, competition for the Broiler crown is keen, with several counties participating and submitting records from their best growers.

"President Tuckwiller urges all poultrymen, as well as others, to set aside the dates of July 30-31 and August 1 to attend the convention and festival," Hyre said.

Dial System Set In Area

Hyndman and Charlesville, Pa., converted to the dial system at 3:01 a. m. yesterday.

William Hagstrom, Bedford district manager for the United Telephone Company, announced the cutover time yesterday.

He said that with the introduction of dial service, telephone users in the two communities can complete local calls without the aid of an operator.

Long distance, information, assistance and other special types of calls will continue to be handled by the Bedford telephone office.

Effective with the change to dial service all Hyndman and Charlesville telephone numbers will be changed. Supplemental directories listing the new metropolitan type (two letters—five digit) telephone numbers were distributed to telephone customers in the areas served.

Hagstrom said Hyndman has been assigned the name Victoria while Charlesville has been assigned THornwall in the nationwide telephone numbering plan.

The plan, he said, has been designed to permit eventual customer dialing of telephone calls on a continent-wide basis.

Pupils in the schools of the two communities have been familiarized with the use of dial through a number of demonstrations at schools.

Traffic Light Plan Slated At Frostburg

FROSTBURG—Chief of Police Lloyd Truly stated today that the traffic lights at the Bowery and Grant Street intersection have been changed on an experimental basis for several days.

A walk light has been in effect for several years, the chief said, with the center of the three lights being red when the pedestrian walk light was on. No amber light was used.

The change, Chief Truly continued, has been to install amber reflectors in the middle of the bank of signal lights, giving a green, amber and red combination. The timing has also been changed to give more time to cars entering Main Street from Bowery and Grant streets.

The traffic signals at Water and Main streets will retain the walk lights, the chief said, but will be adjusted in the near future.

Membership Drive Opens For Community Programs

FROSTBURG — Mrs. Charles Meehan and Mrs. Herbert Loar have been named as co-chairmen of the annual membership drive of the Frostburg Community programs to be held Monday, May 26.

A number of business men and public spirited citizens have purchased sponsor and patron tickets in the organization, but each family in the community will be given an opportunity to purchase a "family membership" which permits all of the members of the immediate family to attend the entire series of performances.

Mrs. Meehan and Mrs. Loar will select captains for the various districts at once. These captains will then name the members of their teams.

The first feature of this summer's program, according to Rev. Paul Caravetta, president of the organization, will be the Potomac English Bell Ringers.

This group, under the personal direction of Nancy Poore Tufts, bell master, performed before the Maryland Homemakers at College Park last summer and were enthusiastically received, according to local delegates. They present a program of classic, popular and novelty numbers. The date of their appearance will be announced later Rev. Mr. Caravetta.

Alphonse-Gaston Act Marks Hansgen's Victory

In town over the weekend, Bill Criswell related a story that points up the high regard in which Cumberland's sports car races are held in other parts of the country.

The former local radio announcer has been working at a Youngstown (Ohio) television station for about two years and a dealer in foreign automobiles in that city was telling him about the local event.

"I'm going to one of the biggest sports car races in the country in a couple of weeks. You should come along," said the dealer to Criswell.

When Bill asked him where these races were being held, he replied: "In a place called Cumberland, Maryland. This event is really something."

The auto dealer didn't know Criswell had once lived here.

Criswell not only is a former resident, but happened to be in on the ground floor of the local project. In fact, Criswell did a tape recording for WCUM while riding in a sports car driven by Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, the man who conceived the idea of the local races and laid the groundwork for the project.

Criswell described the proposed course while Dr. Skitarelic whizzed around the airport at speeds up to 90 miles an hour. That was six years ago.

"It doesn't seem possible that the races have become so big in such a short time," Criswell said.

And how right he is! Every year, it seems, the crowd gets bigger and the national coverage increases. Pittsburgh, Baltimore and Washington newspapers, radio and TV stations have been giving the races top billing for the past five years.

Sports Illustrated, staffed the event the first year the Steel Cities Region of the SCCA made it a national affair and Sports Car Illustrated was here over the weekend to give the three-day event the "full treatmnt." Even the Detroit News sent a reporter and photographer here to get a word-and-picture story for its Motor City readers.

It's a big time sporting event, one of which the city can be proud.

Gridders Tackle Gorilla

Two husky Catawba College football players look like they've been fighting a gorilla. They have. And the gorilla won.

Lineman Pat Carlisle and John McGrath tackled a caged gorilla for a dollar a minute in a Kannapolis, N. C., carnival over the weekend. The match lasted one minute.

McGrath weighs 230 pounds. Carlisle weighs 205 and the gorilla weighs 175. He was only about four feet tall, "but he was all arms and legs," said Carlisle.

"One time I got him around the waist, but he was kicking me in the shin with one leg, hitting me on the head with an arm, kicking a' John with the other leg and hanging on the bar with the other arm."

The boys would have gotten $6 apiece for pulling the gorilla off the bars and $60 apiece for pinning him to the floor.

"We came close twice," McGrath was quoted by The Associated Press as saying. "We had him holding by three fingers. What we needed was a catcher's mask. They had him muzzled and his fingernails clipped, but he could still cut us on the face. Just look at Pat."

Pat had cuts all over his face, a long cut on his neck, a black eye and stitches dangling from the end of his nose.

They charged me two dollars to get in the hospital and a dollar a stitch," he said. "We made a dollar apiece. Not a very professional bout, was it?"

Four Games Carded In Twilight Circuit

The Twilight Baseball League goes into its second round of games this evening with contests showing Lonaconing at Midland, Zihlman at Barton, Wright's Crossing being host to Cumberland and Westernport invading Finzel.

Midland, Barton and Westernport copped their lidlifters last Thursday while Finzel and Zihlman battled to a seven-inning, 5-5, deadlock in a game called because of darkness and rain. That one has been rescheduled for tomorrow, 6 p. m., at Zihlman.

All of today's tilts will start at 5:30 with the exception of the Zihlman-at-Barton contest.

Crawford Favored

NEW YORK—(INS)—Mickey Crawford of Saginaw, Mich., the ninth-ranked welterweight contender, is a 12-to-5 favorite to defeat New York's Andy Figueroa tonight in a nationally-televised (DuMont) 10-round bout at St. Nicholas Arena.

Sports Car Races Here Witnessed By 45,000

J. SUTER KEGG
Times Sports Editor

The old Alphonse-Gaston act highlighted the climax to Cumberland's national sports car races before a crowd, estimated at more than 45,000 yesterday at Municipal Airport.

Neither Walt Hansgen, the "Flying Dutchmen" from Westfield, N. J., nor Ed Crawford, who hails from Northfield, Ill., wanted to win the hour-long Edgar D. Vandegrift Memorial, closing event on the nine-race program.

As Jesse Coleman of the Steel Cities Region of the SCCA stood in the middle of the course ready to wave his checkered flag at the finish line, the two Lister-Jeguars of millionaire sportsman Briggs Cunningham came down the home stretch in more of a sputter than the roar which had marked their 43 previous runs past the officials' stand.

Both Slow Down

Hansgen, who was in front for 36 laps, relinquished the lead at the head of the stretch but refused to maintain the advantage. Both of the powerful Lister-Jags slowed down and Hansgen flashed a signal with his hand, indicating he wanted Crawford to go across first. Crawford refused and Hansgen stepped on the throttle to win a close and exciting two-car race.

With the reluctant victory for the "Flying Dutchman" goes a record average of 71 miles per hour. The previous mark of 70.4 was established on the tricky 1.6 mile airport layout with its seven "sneaky corners" last year when Hansgen finished second to Carroll Shelby. It was Hansgen's third feature victory here.

Established as the pre-race favorite by the Evening Times as early as last Wednesday, Hansgen lived up to the advance billing by breaking on top with the other half of the Cunningham entry right behind.

Hansgen gave up the lead in the sixth lap, was in front the next time around and set the pace until the 14th when Crawford again took over. The "Flying Dutchman" went into a spin on the next lap, losing a lot of valuable ground to his teammate although failing to drop below second. Little by little Hansgen began to cut down the separation distance and the 20th time Walt was in charge again.

'After You, Dear Gaston!'

On the 33rd lap No. 61, driven by Crawford, was on top but the next time around it was Hansgen leading. The terrific one-two battle continued until the 44th lap when the two crafty drivers revived the Alphonse-Gaston stage memories. The winning "touchdown" was assured and neither of the Cunningham teammates seemed to care who "carried the ball across."

Don Sesslar of Lancaster, Ohio, driving a Porsche, was third. He and George Constantine of Sturbridge, Md. were the only drivers not lapped by the Cunningham swifties. Constantine, behind the wheel of a D-Jag, was fourth.

Sesslar, who had qualified for the final race by winning the fifth, fell back to eighth early in race after going to a spin. But he showed a lot of driving savvy in moving back to third place.

A field of 13 started in the feature race, but only ten finished. Both factory Thunderbirds were forced to drop out and W. G. Sadler of St. Catherines, Ontario, went out after 29 laps. Sadler was running fifth in a Sadler-Chevrolet, a car he built himself, at the time.

Detroit Driver Hurt

The only winning American car in the day-long racing competition was a Chevrolet Corvette driven by Fred Windridge of Washington in the seventh race. German Porsches copped three of the nine events.

Ideal weather—90-degree temperature with a cooling breeze—prevailed and only a minor accident prevented it from being a perfect day of racing.

In the second race 34-year-old Louis John Jeffries of Detroit experienced brake failure while nearing the curve in the long backstretch, just beyond the starting point. Jeffries missed the bales of hay that were on the curve as a safety measure and plummeted over a 75-foot shale embankment. The car rolled over several times, then came to rest on its wheels after dropping an additional 30 feet straight down onto a Mineral County road.

Two Repeaters

Dr. Leo H. Ley, one of the race physicians, was stationed at that curve and gave the Michigan driver first aid before sending him to Memorial Hospital where he will probably be released today. Dr. Ley termed Jeffries' escape miraculous and said that the safety belt and roll bar probably combined to save his life.

Two 1957 winners repeated yesterday. Denise McCluggage of New York City, driving a Porsche, won the DeWitt S. Hyde Trophy for the second time by winning the 20-minute ladies' race. Her chief pursuers were Mackay squeezed past Yio Pimental 6-3, 6-4, 5-7, 1-6, 6-1, and Quillian, substituting for Hamilton Richardson, crushed Manolo Suarez, Jr., 6-0, 6-0, 6-1.

The two sets Mackay dropped were the only ones of the five matches that Venezuela was able to salvage.

Turley Says Success Due To Breathing

By International News Service

Bullet Bob Turley of the New York Yankees credits his amazing success this season to breathing.

Of course, he has been breathing all along but he does it a little differently now and the righthander thinks it makes all the difference in the world.

His new system is to take a deep breath before every pitch. Believe it or not, Turley adopted the system at the suggestion of a sports writer.

"This breathing system relaxes me," says Turley. "I pitch with my lungs full of oxygen, with a maximum intake of oxygen. Of course, it also helps to have your stuff, not to be too wild, and to have confidence in yourself."

Turley must have a tremendous amount of confidence today.

Yesterday, he started and completed a game for the sixth time this season. He has won all six and four have been shutouts. One was a one-hitter. His earned-run average is a superb 0.83.

The 27-year-old hurler from Lutherville, Md., gave up just five hits yesterday as he beat Washington, 3 to 0. He fanned six to raise his league-leading strikeout total to 38.

Turley, who is 6-foot-2 and weighs 220 pounds, is more than making up for his poor spring training showing when an injured back hampered his delivery.

Snead Wins Own Tourney In Five Extra

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — Sam Snead, having staved off an assault on his castle by a promising young aspirant to golf's throne, turned his mind again today to the one major title that has eluded him—the U. S. Open.

Snead, who will be 46 next week, was carried five extra holes Sunday before he warded off 22-year-old Gary Player of South Africa in the Snead Festival.

Player gave two of golf's best, Snead and Ben Hogan, fits throughout the tourney before succumbing. He played seesaw with them for the first three rounds of the regulation 72, and then tied Snead at the end.

He lost out on the fifth sudden death playoff hole when he couldn't make a five-foot putt. Snead, who had blown two short putts on the second and fourth, made his from a yard away to win.

It was the fourth time in 11 of the tournaments on the course where he has been pro for 21 years that Snead has won the $2,300 first prize.

Hogan, also preparing for the Open next month in Tulsa, where he will try for a record fifth championship, pulled up in third place with 265. Par is 280.

Player finished with a 66, Snead with 67 and Hogan with 68.

Maxwell Wins Memphis Golf

MEMPHIS (AP)—A sandy-haired Texan who polished his golf on the hardpan courses of the Southwest fired a cluster of clutch birdies Sunday to win the $20,000 Memphis Invitational.

Billy Maxwell, a former National Amateur champion now playing out of Odessa, Tex., capped his 5-under-par round with a birdie on the 18th that gave him top money by a stroke.

Maxwell finished the 72-hole medal play tourney over the 6,700-yard, 34-36—70 Colonial Country Club course with 69-65-68-65—267. That was good for $2,800 cash and another $1,000 when he appears at the Tournament of Champions in Las Vegas.

Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, an old guard pro who was the early favorite, finished second with 67-67-68-66—268, worth $1,900.

The last-place Chicago White Sox may not be dead yet, but the guillotine could drop when the merciless New York Yankees move into town.

If the Sox had won their doubleheader yesterday with Cleveland, they would have jumped all the way into third place, 7½ games behind the Yanks with something to fight for. Instead, the Indians won two so the Sox are in the cellar, 9½ games out.

Must Win Both

And if things aren't glum enough for Senor Al Lopez and his players, the Yanks come to town tomorrow for a two-game set. The Sox virtually must win both to keep their pennant hopes alive.

The Indians won the first game, 7 to 4 in 11 innings and took the nightcap, 10 to 6. Lopez won't soon forget either game.

The Sox thought they had the opener won when they rallied for two runs in the top of the ninth. But Mickey Vernon homered for Cleveland to send the game into extra innings and then Carroll Hardy homered in the 11th for the Cleveland win.

Lopez protested bitterly that Hardy's homer was foul but the umpires won as usual.

The angry White Sox came back in the second game and built up a quick five-run lead only to have it erased just as quickly by the Tribe. Ray Narleski and Don Mossi were the winning pitchers. Jim Wilson and Gerry Staley lost.

Yanks Sweep Nats

The Yanks stretched their winning streak to six games and their league lead to 6½ games by beating Washington, 5 to 2 and 3 to 0, behind Sal Maglie and Bob Turley. Kansas City took over second place by blanking Detroit, 2 to 0, on Duke Mass' two-hitter. Boston slugged Baltimore, 8 to 4.

In the National League, Cincinnati came from behind to beat Milwaukee, 11 to 7, and knock the Braves out of first place. Johnny Antonelli and Stu Miller hurled San Francisco to 7-to-3 and 5-to-0 wins over Chicago that moved the Giants into first place. Philadelphia completed a sweep of a four-game series with Pittsburgh by downing the Pirates, 6 to 4 and 6 to 2. St. Louis and Los Angeles split a pair, the Cards taking the opener, 6 to 5, and the Dodgers winning the second, 4 to 0, on Carl Erskine's eight-hitter.

A pair of three-run homers by George Crowe and Dee Fondy enabled the Redlegs to wipe out an early Milwaukee lead and give Bob Purkey his fourth win. Lew Burdette lost to even his record at 3-and-3. Joe Adcock hit two homers and Ed Mathews and Johnny Logan had one each for the Braves. For the second day in a row, the umpires had to warn pitchers on both teams to stop throwing at batters.

Antonelli Whiffs Eight

Antonelli struck out eight Cubs and gave up just five hits, including homers by Bobby Thomson and Cal Neeman. Danny O'Connell and Willie Kirkland each drove in three Giant runs as Moe Drabowsky lost. Miller held the Cubs to three hits to win his first of the year. Jim Davenport had two doubles and a single to help tag Jim Brosnan with the defeat. The largest Wrigley Field crowd of the season was on hand, 33,224.

Jack Sanford and Ray Semproch were the winning Philadelphia hurlers while Ron Kline and Vern Law lost for the Bucs, who now have dropped five in a row. Frank Thomas hit his 12th homer for the Pirates to take the major league lead.

Drysdale Loses Seventh

Ken Boyer's grand-slam homer won the first for the Cards. Don Drysdale lost his seventh against

Pen-Mar Race Tied

Barrelville, Salisbury Knotted For Loop Lead

Barrelville and Salisbury, in a pair of thrillers, moved into joint ownership of the Pen-Mar Baseball League lead yesterday by remaining the only two undefeated teams in the circuit.

The Old Exports nudged Flintstone, 2-1, to hald the Farmers' one-game win streak while Salisbury slipped by Hyndman, 5-4, as the Merchants fell for the first time in five starts.

Wellersburg won over Zihlman, 8-5, and Grantsville's Sluggers dumped Mt. Savage Old Germans, 5-1, in the other Sunday contests.

Win In Eighth Frame

Salisbury, the loop's newest entry, set the Merchants down when Oester singled in the eighth, stole second and scored the tie-breaking run on a bingle by Harris. Glenn Deremer, who relieved John Waltman in the fifth, was the loser.

Ohstethler, Harris and Robertson of the Kestone Staters and Bob Cook, Lou Hite and Cliff Clites of Hyndman had two hits each. Hite batted in three runs and Harris a pair. Salisbury had a 4-3 lead in the fifth but Hyndman deadlocked the game in the home sixth with a tally.

Bobby Raines, in his first start, fanned 13 and gave up only hits as Barrelville beat Wes Lashbaugh in a close one-at Barrelville. Ken Lough had two of the hits by Flintstone while "Pooch" Lewis, Ronnie Cage, Leroy Morris and Jack Lowery accounted for the four hits off Lashbaugh who whiffed five.

Walks In Deciding Tally

Lashbaugh lost his own game in the fifth when he walked four batsmen, Emerick, Galen McGregor, Harold Hudson and Cage to force the winning run.

A one-handed running catch by Dwight Morris on Cage's long drive to left field in the 4th inning was the fielding highlight.

Wellersburg broke into the win column for the first time this season by utrning back Zihlman. Jerry Loibel, who was relieved by Witt and Joe Glass in the win. Bill Haberlein was the loser. Loibel fanned seven and Haberlein whiffed five.

"Sonny" Glass sparked Wellersburg's 15-hit attack with a double and two singles. Joe Glass, John Anderson, Van Parsons, Ronnie Neubiser and Bill Clauson garnered two hits each. Ronnie Diehl with a double and three singles and Curt Johnson with a two-bagger and single led Zihlman's batsmen.

Keister Hurls 4-Hitter

Robert "Lefty" Keister yielded only four hits, struck out 11 and collected two doubles to lead Grantsville to victory at Mt. Savage. Ed Dickel, the first of three Mt. Savage pitchers, was tagged with the loss.

Keister was never in trouble after the first inning and only one runner advanced past first base after the opening frame. He was Dwight Rose who tripled in the 7th. Rose also rapped a single for the losers.

Cain smacked two singles and Ray Ralston, Ronnie Bruce and Mike Lease had a two-bagger each for Grantsville.

Orioles Lose But Stay High In Standings

BOSTON (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles have dropped four of their last five games but they're still hanging on to a spot in the first division of the American League.

After dropping yesterday's contest with the Red Sox 8-4, the Orioles squat in fourth place a few percentage points behind Cleveland and 7½ games behind the league-leading New York Yankees.

Since the start of the current road trip, Baltimore has knuckled under twice to the Yanks and twice to Boston. But the Yanks have won six straight, after taking a double-header from Washington yesterday.

Still High In Standings

With the other six teams in the league murdering each other and no one capable of stopping Bob Turley, Don Larsen and other Yankee hurlers, the Orioles find themselves playing .480 ball and still riding high in the standings.

The Orioles had an open date today and meet the Tigers in Detroit tomorrow.

The loser in yesterday's defeat was Billy Loes, who went down to his fourth straight loss of the season. Before he was yanked in the sixth inning, Loes gave up 10 Boston hits, walked five, hit a batter with a pitched ball and committed a fielding error.

Dick Gernert drove in four Boston runs with a double and two homers and Jackie Jensen slammed a homer and three singles to bring home three more runs.

Baltimore outhit the Bosox 14 to 12 but passed up enough opportunities to give big Frank Sullivan his first win against one loss.

Boyd Starts To Hit

A glimmer of light for Baltimore was the performance of Bob Boyd, a leading hitter in past seasons but suffering a slump at the plate this season. Boyd, replacing Jim Marshall at first, hit a four-bagger and a single.

Loes was replaced on the mound by Ken Lehman in the sixth after the Baltimore starter had engaged in a prolonged dispute with plate umpire Neston Chylak. In the first, he thought he had gotten some bad calls on balls and strikes.

Pitching to Ted Williams in the second, he appeared to be going through the gesture of loading the ball with spit, contrary to the rule against the spit ball. When Chylak called for the ball, Loes rolled it on the ground to him.

Richards Steams At Loes

This resulted in a dispute which finally ended with Loes staying on the mound but with Orioles Manager Paul Richards steaming at—not the umpires — but his own pitcher.

It was very apparent after the game that Richards gave Loes a royal dressing down for his conduct.

During the same hectic second inning, Loes sustained a painful bruise on his leg when Ted Williams slammed the ball back to the mound.

the same two women who trailed her to the finish a year ago although they reversed positions. Mrs. Margaret J. (Peg) Wyllie of Allison Park, Pa., long a local favorite, placed second, one notch higher than in 1957. Mrs. Suzy Dietrich of Sandusky, Ohio, the 1957 runnerup, dropped to third.

The other repeat winner was Frank Baptista of Hyattsville, driving an Elva MK II. A year ago he also won the second race. His average speed was 67 miles per hour.

Other Winners Listed

Miss McCluggage, a sports-writer for the New York Herald Tribune, was the second of three drivers to win in Porsches. The first was E. Pupulidy, Freeport, N. Y., winner of the third race. The other Porsche winner was Sesslar in the fifth race, who finished third in the final event.

Other winners yesterday were Barry Budlong Jr., first race, driving an Alfa Romeo; Ross Wees, Claysburg, Pa., driving an AC Bristol in the sixth race, and Fred Windridge, Washington, D. C., who had the only American-built winner, a Corvette, in the seventh.

Sandwiched between the fourth and fifth races was a special event, a Formula III race. The Formula IIIs are flightly vehicles with motorcycle engines which run on alcohol and benzine. All three winners were Coopers. In first place was Harry P. Whitney of Philadelphia, Pa., followed by Robert I. Kahmer of Baltimore. Third was Alexis duPont of the Wilmington duPonts, who was instrumental in adding this race to the card.

Cumberland's Herman J. Melotti finished fourth in the first race, driving an Alfa Romeo.

Eagles, Purple Heart Begin Shuffle Finals

Cumberland Eagles, never able to win the shootoffs in the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League, will meet Purple Heart Club, champion in 1955, in the first three games of the six-game series tonight on the Purple Heart board.

The last three games will be shot Wednesday on the Eagles' board. The championship is decided on total points in the six games.

Eagles won the American Division title last week by eliminating Knights of Columbus while Purple Heart knocked Fisher & Robinette from the shootoffs in the National Division.

Moorefield, Keyser Clash In Regional Tomorrow

Regional play starts this week in the West Virginia state high school baseball circles to determine the eight entries for the tourney finals at Parkersburg May 29-31. East Bank is the defending champion. Moorefield and Keyser will clash at Stayman Field in Keyser tomorrow at 4 p. m. in a Region 4 semi-final while Berkeley Springs and Martinsburg tangle in the other. The winners meet later in the week for the title.

Moorefield (9-1) won sectional honors last week by beating Mathias, 5-3, in a playoff. Keyser (11-1) beat Romney for their section honors. The Jackets and Golden Tornado did not meet during the regular season.

Indians Kayo Pirates

Berkeley defeated Paw Paw, 5-3, Saturday in their playoff while Martinsburg had made the semi-finals with a 4-0 shutout over Harpers Ferry earlier in the week.

A five-run rally in the fifth provided the win for Berkeley yesterday with the highlight being Ken Mechem's triple with the bases loaded. Gary Henry went the distance and limited the Pirates to four hits, including a homer by Kevin Edmonson in the sixth.

Gil Corbett was tagged with the setback, being touched for seven hits while striking out seven. Stotler had three of the winners' safeties.

Sectional winners of a starting field of 166 teams will compete in eight regional tournaments.

Lineups Listed

The regional lineup so far includes:

Region 1 at Warwood — Weirton vs Wheeling Monday; Benwood Union vs Wellsburg Tuesday; finals Wednesday.

Rigney Calm With Club In Senior Lead

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Rigney, manager of the first place San Francisco Giants, slumped into a clubhouse chair and propped his feet with an air of contentment.

"I've been in this game for 20 years," said Rigney, "and I still haven't found anything as wonderful or relaxing as winning a doubleheader."

Rigney had reason to relax. His Giants had swept a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs 7-3 and 4-0, with route-going performances by Johnny Antonelli and Stu Miller.

The double triumph had lifted the Giants into first place, one game ahead of Milwaukee and it was all accomplished without any help from Willie Mays — San Francisco's No. 1 batting star who didn't figure in any of the scoring.

"We're going to do everything we can to stay up there," said Rigney. "This club — these guys — I just don't know," stammered the San Francisco manager. "They leave me at a loss for words. Their spirit, their play, has been great. They just don't seem to know how good they are."

Rigney didn't know who to praise or how much.

Antonelli had a no-hitter going for five innings and before the Cubs got to him for three runs and a pair of homers. Miller shut them out on three hits in the second game. Danny O'Connell had a pair of doubles in the first game and three runs batted in and had a single, double and triple in the nightcap with one RBI and two runs scored.

Willie Kirkland snapped out of an early slump with two hits and drove in three runs in the first game and had two hits and an RBI in the opener and three straight hits including a pair of doubles and an RBI in the second.

"That little guy (Miller) is the guttiest sonofagun I've ever seen," said Rigney. "What a game he pitched. O'Connell was great and that error he made in the second game was his first of the season. He's been great for us. All these guys have been."

West Virginia Revises Cage School Rating

CHARLESTON (AP) — West Virginia high school basketball teams will be competing next year in Class AAA, Class AA and Class A divisions, with the tourney finals made up of 12 entries instead of the usual eight.

The decision to junk the present Class A and B setup in favor of a three-division program patterned after the present football setup was made over the weekend at a meeting between the State Board of Appeals and representatives of high school coaches.

To Study Grid Plans

The group also kicked around the controversial football rating plan but decided to study it further before making any definite decisions. Appeals Board Executive Secy. W.R. Fugitt said details of the rating system would be worked out within the next several weeks. Still to be studied is the method of determining the number of rating points.

Fugitt said agreement has been reached to eliminate the defeated clause in the plan. This had prevented any defeated team in class from being considered for rating purposes until all others in that class had been beaten.

The classification of schools would be the same both for football and basketball. Schools with more than 250 boys enrolled in the top three grades would be designated AAA, schools with between 115-250 boys enrolled would be marked for Class AA, and schools with less than 115 boys would be placed in Class A.

To Drop 'B' Class

Fugitt said it was decided to drop the designation of Class B in both football and basketball because many coaches of smaller schools thought the classification indicated a second-rate institution.

The tournament, scheduled for Huntington next March 20-21, will consist of an all-day session the opening day, and of an afternoon and evening session in the second day finals.

The board, in separate action, put a crimp on any plans of student athletes to attend professional and specialized coaching schools and camps by warning that they would be ineligible if they attended such places.

Fugitt explained that a number of recent inquiries from coaches and principals concerning their student athletes prompted the admonition.

"The rules restrict the boys to coaching at the high school level," Fugitt said. "For example, boys camps or schools or any such places specializing in one particular sport, would not be eligible to compete in state high school athletics."

Fugitt said the regulation does not apply to established summer camps which have a general all-around sports program.

HELPING HANDS

CINCINNATI—(NEA)—Ezzard Charles, former heavyweight champion, now works as a juvenile aid officer in Cincinnati, the same job held in Camden, N. J., by Jersey Joe Walcott, another ex-heavy champ.

Fuzzy Levane, new basketball coach of the New York Knickerbockers, will have an assistant next season. He is Bill (Red) Holzman who formerly coached the Milwaukee Hawks in the National Basketball Assn.

County Loop Pacesetters In Tuesday Tilts

The four teams still in the thick of contention for the Allegany County Interscholastic League baseball title will be taking their swings at each other tomorrow afternoon.

Pacing Allegany, its unbeaten streak ended by Beall, 6-1, last Friday will travel to Mt. Savage against the runnerup Indians while third-place Fort Hill, victim of a no-hitter by Valley's George Lauder, last Friday, will be host to fourth-place Beall.

Alco Has Game Lead

The Campers have a game lead over the hustling Indians who now have won six in a row. Alco has a 7-1 mark in addition to the tie game against Beall while coach Joe Carter's Braves have taken eight of 10 starts. Allegany nipped the Mt. Savage nine, 3-2, in their first meeting.

The Sentinels, in losing two of their last three starts, hope to sweep Beall when the Mountaineers are here tomorrow. Beall was a tough opponent in the first clash, losing out in eight innings, 6-5, on a homer by Jim Hammond in the extra frame. Beall has a 6-2 log and the Sentinels are 7-2 for the season.

Valley will be at Westernport to meet Bruce and LaSalle is host to Flintstone in the other action. A game had been carded for this afternoon when LaSalle and Valley were to make up their rained out contest but it has been postponed.

Mathias Seeks PVC Title

Mathias has a chance of taking the Potomac Valley Conference championship tomorrow when being host to Wardensville. Coach Jim Vance's club is undefeated in eight games and by closing out without a loss takes the loop honors. A loss gives the championship to Keyser (11-1).

Paw Paw is billed for a game against West Virginia School for the Deaf in Romney to complete tomorrow's schoolboy card.

White Sox

one win. Homers by Charley Neal and Gil Hodges helped Erskine beat Wilmer Mizell.

Maglie not only won his first start for the Yanks, with some aid from Rine Duren, but he belted a three-run homer off Pedro Ramos. Mickey Mantle also chipped in with a circuit. Turley hurled a five-hitter to win his sixth complete game and his fourth shutout. His earned run average fell to a superb 0.83. Ex-Yankee Al Cicotte lost as Mantle hit a two-run double.

Maas, a former Tiger, won a brilliant pitching duel from Paul Foytack, who gave the A's just three hits. The A's scored both their runs in the second inning.

Dick Gernert clouted two homers and Jackie Jensen hit one with two men on as Frank Sullivan won his first of the year for Boston. Billy Loes was the loser. Bill Gardner and Bob Boyd homered for the Orioles.

Gordie Howe Again Picked Most Valuable

MONTREAL (AP)—Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings today equalled the all time record by winning the "Most Valuable Player" award of the National Hockey League for the fourth time.

The 30-year-old all-star right-winger receives the Hart Trophy, emblematic of the honor, and a cash prize of $1,000. This is the second straight time he had won the trophy and the fourth time in his 12-year career with the Red Wings. The only other player ever to win four Hart trophies was Eddie Shore, former defense star of the Boston Bruins.

Ruth Hertel Holds Top Singles Score

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A 622 by Ruth Hertel of Lexington, Tenn., continued today to top singles scores at the Woman's International Bowling Congress.

Only 280 of the original 8,065 entrants still have an opportunity to beat Miss Hertel's score, which would be one of the lowest winning scores. Last year's winning score was 664.

Tigers, Carolina Clash For Title

By The Associated Press

The Atlantic Coast Conference baseball championship will be decided tonight at Gastonia, N. C. and it looks like a third meeting for two scrappy pitchers.

Clemson and University of North Carolina, tied with 11-3 league records, clash on the neutral field at 8 p.m.

Tiger Coach Bill Wilhelm has announced he will put southpaw Harold Stowe on the mound. Stowe pitched April 9 against Wayne Young when the Tigers squeezed past UNC 2-1 at Clemson, S. C.

Tar Heel Coach Walter Rabb hasn't announced his choice of three top pitchers, but the betting is on Young. Young hurled April 25 when the Tar Heels turned around and pinched the Tigers 2-1 at Chapel Hill, N. C., with Stowe taking a loss.

The winner of tonight's game will represent the ACC June 5 when the District 3 National Collegiate Athletic Assn. tournament opens at Gastonia. The tournament matches the champions of the ACC, Southern and Southeastern conferences plus one at - large team.

RUSSIA GETS BACK INTO SPACE—Artist's conception above shows the approximate orbit of Russia's Sputnik III, traveling in a southwesterly to northeasterly direction. It is the U.S.S.R.'s only satellite in space since Sputnik II died on April 14. Sputnik III is many times larger than the three U.S. moons currently in orbit. It is 11 feet, 8 inches long and 5 feet, 8 inches wide at the base. The weight given by Moscow — 2,972.48 pounds — is about 100 times heavier than the largest U. S. satellite. Sputnik III orbits the earth every 106 minutes and at its farthest point is 1,167 miles away. Soviet sources said that it carried no live animal, but is packed with scientific instruments. Soon after launching it separated from its carrier rocket, which is following an orbit close behind the satellite itself. Russia had previously launched two other sputniks, but both had ended their existence, leaving outer space to the three U.S. "moons"—Explorers I and III and Vanguard I.

Three Area Projects Get Church Help

Two projects in Allegany County and one in Garrett County are included in 24 projects scheduled to benefit from the $1,700,000 Episcopal Advance Fund of the Diocese of Maryland which ends late in June.

Holy Cross mission in South Cumberland and St. Peter's in Lonaconing will benefit from the fund. Drive leaders emphasize that Holy Cross has outgrown its quarters. Expansion is necessary and relocation is highly desirable. A parish house is necessary for the development of the real potential of St. Peter's mission in Lonaconing, which has grown beyond expectations.

In Garrett County, campaign leaders say, it is important to erect a "first unit" where the scattered activities of the Diocesan Missions (Altamont, Swanton and Deer Park) may be concentrated. Our Father's House at Altamont will remain a summer place of worship.

St. Andrew's at Clear Spring in nearby Washington County also is scheduled to benefit. The home of the clergyman of this church between Hancock and Hagerstown is used as the parish house. Construction of a parish house is essential to the development of the church.

The Diocese of Maryland which includes Baltimore City and ten Maryland counties has been divided into 15 areas for the purposes of this Episcopal Advance Fund. William L. Wilson, this city, is chairman in Area 1. Each area is subsequently divided into two divisions. Dr. Leslie R. Miles Jr., Lonaconing, is "A" Division chairman and Harry F. Goss of Holy Cross Church is "B" Division chairman.

Subscriptions to the Episcopal Advance Fund are to be made during a 40-month period from October 1958 until January 1962. All money advanced from the fund will be in the nature of low-interest loans and will be returned to be put to work elsewhere.

Injured In Fall

William Wright, 12, of RFD 4, Oldtown Road, was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon with injuries he sustained when he fell out of a tree. The hospital said he suffered a fractured left wrist and a laceration of the scalp.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

THE HOUSING AUTHORITY OF THE CITY OF CUMBERLAND, MARYLAND, a corporation, vs. JOHN S. BUTLER, whose present martial status and whereabouts are unknown, and UNKNOWN HEIRS AND/OR DEVISEES OF JOHN S. BUTLER, whose whereabouts are unknown, and UNKNOWN HEIRS OF CLARA BUTLER, deceased, whose whereabouts are unknown, et al. No. 2661 Law. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Md.

The object of this suit is to acquire by condemnation a certain lot or parcel of land situated on the West side of Lamont Street, in the City of Cumberland, Allegany, County, Maryland, together with the improvements thereon known and designated as No. 39 Lamont Street, said property fronting 55 feet on Lamont Street and extending back an even width for a depth of 100 feet to Rosewood Alley.

The petition states that the petitioner in pursuance of its power and authority has determined that the above referred to property is needed and required for a housing project and that it is authorized by law to acquire the same by condemnation, and it is so doing so that a fee simple title may be acquired.

The petition states that the petitioner John S. Butler is a brother of Clara E. Butler, the said Clara E. Butler having died seised and possessed of an undivided one half interest in the said property. Further that the whereabouts of the said John S. Butler is unknown, and it is unknown whether he be living or dead, and if he be living whether or not he is married, and if he be dead whether and who his heirs at law may be, as who they are and their respective whereabouts are unknown. That the said John S. Butler, if he be living is an heir at law of the said Clara E. Butler, and if he be not living then his heirs at law and or devisees have an interest in the share of the said Clara E. Butler in and to said property.

The petition further states that the property sought to be condemned is that described in two separate deeds to Laura V. E. Butler recorded respectively in Deed Liber No. 130, folio 279, and Deed Liber No. 140, folio 287 of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, the said Laura V. E. Butler having devised the said property by her last will and testament to Joseph C. Butler and Clara E. Butler, said will being recorded in Wills Liber Q, folio 502 in the Orphans' Court for Allegany County, Maryland, having been admitted to probate therein in 1934.

Further the petition states that the petitioner is unable to agree with the owners of the aforesaid property for the acquisition thereof as one or more of said owners of the said property is unknown and a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and it is necessary that the aforesaid property at No. 39 Lamont Street, Cumberland, Maryland, be condemned.

PURSUANT TO RULE 105 (c) and (d) 1 of the Maryland Rules of Procedure IT IS THEREUPON, this 9th day of May, 1958, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, ordered that notice be given to John S. Butler, whose present martial status and whereabouts is unknown, and to the unknown heirs and/or devisees of the said John S. Butler, whose names and whereabouts are unknown, and to the unknown heirs of Clara E. Butler, deceased, late of Allegany County, Maryland, whose names and whereabouts are unknown, by causing a copy of this Order to be published at least once a week for four successive weeks in a newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, warning the said John S. Butler, the unknown heirs and/or devisees of the said John S. Butler, and the unknown heirs of Clara E. Butler to be and appear in this court, either in person or by solicitor, on or before the 18th day of June, 1958, and file their pleas, answers or other defenses within fifteen days thereafter.

Alaska Has Last Of Dog Mail Routes

SAVOONGA, Alaska —(AP)— The only remaining dog sled carrier of U. S. Mails in Alaska continues to operate on St. Lawrence Island in the Bering Sea. All other mails and freight are now carried by air.

Chester Noonwook, a 22-year-old Eskimo, drives his 10 huskies over the 100-mile mail route between Savoonga and Campbell about twice a week. The Post Office Department pays Noonwook $40 for each round trip.

Although he has frequent trouble with "howling storms of soft snow," Noonwook consoles himself that "there are no wolves."

His most serious task, he said, was once when a new missionary came into Savoonga and had 5,000 pounds of baggage, and it was December weather. Noonwook and his dogs "delivered the mail" on that assignment, too, although it required several extra trips.

Speech Contents Rapped By Son

NEW YORK—(AP)—Robert B. Anderson, secretary of the Treasury confided in a speech here that he had a critic at home.

The secretary reported that some of his speeches had been read by his 17-year-old son, who commented:

"You know, it's a shame that you can't say some of these really smart things around the house."

Quiet Charm Of Interview Show Lauded

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Of the numerous interview programs now on television and radio, none has more quiet charm than "Insight with Arnold Michaelis," which the Mutual Broadcasting System is presenting on Sundays.

Michaelis is a disarming fellow who does not goad or lecture his subjects, but lets them say what's on their minds and hearts. Personally, I'd vote it the radio program I'd most like to listen to while caught in a Sunday evening traffic jam.

Sunday night, for example, Michaelis offered an insight into Oscar Hammerstein II following an interview with his partner in many Broadway hit shows, Richard Rodgers, on the previous Sunday. Listening to a recording of the interview in advance of the broadcast, I felt I'd learned more about Hammerstein in 25 minutes than from reading thousands of words about him.

Hammerstein loves to recite his lyrics — and recites them very well. He confessed that some of the songs can make him cry. "But I don't cry at sadness. I cry at naive happiness, as it's expressed by the character singing the song."

Why "Oklahoma!" was a great hit is a fact that still perplexes both Rodgers and Hammerstein, the lyricist told Michaelis, pointing out the numerous rules it broke: No girls for the first 40 minutes. One of its best songs wasted in the first three minutes of the show. No important new songs in the second act.

"We almost didn't get a backer," he recalled. "We peddled it from penthouse to penthouse with no takers."

Like nearly every first-rate artist, Hammerstein was rather incoherent about his creative processes except to say that "All sorts of ideas come to you when you're active. When you just sit back in an arm chair, nothing comes to you."

Of his own philosophy and work he said: "Somebody has to keep saying there are beautiful meadows bathed in sunshine. The world would get out of focus if we only listened to artists who emphasize the wastelands."

Bridge Play Opens Friday

Cumberland Recreation Department announces that bridge play will begin Friday at 8 p. m. at the Naval Reserve Training Center, McKaig's Hill.

The program, which will be held every Friday night, is open to everyone, although it is primarily for persons who have taken the bridge course sponsored by the department.

Clarence C. DeHaven, bridge instructor of former classes held at Central YMCA, will act as a supervisor.

Over 300 persons attended some six classes sponsored by the department. The sixth class finished last Monday at Central YMCA.

Another class is planned for next fall, and persons interested in enrolling are asked to contact the Rec Department by calling PA 2-7360.

Women Hurt In Mishaps

Two women were injured in unusual mishaps yesterday afternoon at the Sports Car Races.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital were Mrs. Dorothy Edwards, 30, of 8 Turner Street, and Miss Mary Lou Kline, 29, Wiley Ford.

The hospital said Mrs. Edwards was injured as she got out of the car operated by Miss Kline and the auto started up before she was completely out. She was admitted for observation.

When Miss Kline saw that Mrs. Edwards was injured, she stopped, and as she got out of the car she twisted her right ankle and fractured it.

Also treated at Memorial Hospital last night was Ronald Hite, 18, of Valley Road, who sustained a possible fractured pelvis when he was kicked by a horse.

Hitchhiking is prohibited by law in 26 states.

Lou Swindles With Heart 3

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Larceny Lou won the opening heart lead with the jack and shifted to the jack of trumps.

At this point South would have had no trouble making five odd if he could see the East and West hands. All he had to do would be to cash the two top trumps, finesse dummy's jack of clubs and play clubs indefinitely.

South was not clairvolant and chose an entirely different line of play. He trumped a diamond in dummy; cashed the ace and king of clubs, discarding his last heart and ruffed the ten of hearts in his own hand. Larceny Lou played his eight of hearts and retained the three-spot.

Another diamond was ruffed and the king of hearts led and ruffed. Lou naturally played the ace.

At this point South had eight tricks home and retained the ace-eight of spades and two low diamonds. He could still have made the hand several ways and chose to lead a diamond. West won and Lou discarded his last club.

West led the queen of clubs and Lou ruffed with the ten. South discarded his last diamond and Lou led the six of spades.

Remember that three of hearts that Lou still held? South decided that West held that card, not East. Then Lou would still hold the queen of spades. South finessed the spade eight and West made his unguarded queen to set the hand.

Area Civitan Group Elects

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Henry Madden of Alexandria was elected district governor of Chesapeake District Civitan International for 1958-59 Sunday at the district convention here. Madden will succeed C. Ramsay Cruett of Norfolk.

The election highlighted the three-day convention.

Lieutenant governors within the district included Ernest Kendall of Silver Spring, Md., for the Washington, D. C. area, and Charles Hartman of Frederick, Md., Zone 6 including Westminster and Frederick.

Large Jewel Theft Occurs On Passenger

PITTSBURGH (AP) —The FBI is looking for a man who reportedly robbed a salesman of some $100,000 in cash and jewels aboard a train passing through western Pennsylvania.

Arthur King, 45, of Miami Beach, Fla., told authorities a gunmen entered his berth Saturday on a Pennsylvania Railroad train near Tyrone, Pa., bound and gagged him, and fled with the loot.

King was freed when the train reached Ada, Ohio.

Agents said the gunman was believed to have been a passenger who left the train at Altoona.

State's Seal Inscription Challenged

Graduate Student Says Grammar Is Not Perfect

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — The Italian inscription on Maryland's official seal, attacked the defended for years, is being challenged again.

Mrs. George F. Devine, graduate student of Italian languages and literature at the University of Rome, is taking issue with the seal's inscription, "Fatti Maschii Parole Femine." Translated, it means "Action benefits men, words benefit women."

Mrs. Divine cast a discerning eye at the motto on a letterhead she received from Maryland officials regarding her application for a teaching position.

Writing Maryland's Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin, Mrs. Divine said Machi has only one i and Femmine should have a double m in proper Italian usage. She suggested a change, to prevent advertising "American widespread ignorance of foreign languages."

Director of Information Earl R. Poorbaugh, acting for the governor, wrote Mrs. Divine that the "grammatical imperfection" of the seal was proper for historical reasons. He said Lord Calvert—"an educated man" who traveled extensively in Italy—designed the seal in 1625, when Italian spelling was not fixed.

How about Mrs. Divine's teaching job application? She said she was turned down on the grounds her Italian degrees were not adequate.

Natural Gas, Oil Drilling Set In Lake

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — The first offshore drilling for natural gas and oil on the American side of Lake Erie is expected to begin this week.

Monkey May Gather Data In Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Johns Hopkins University professor has designed an earth satellite to send a monkey whirling in space for 60 days.

Dr. Bernard Weiss, of the university's school of Medicine, Baltimore, described his idea Saturday at a symposium on possible earth satellites.

Other speakers told of the possibilities of using other animals to get data on possible human behavior in a satellite.

Dr. Weiss also presented a design for a rat satellite. But he said he preferred use of a monkey because they are so smart.

Under his design, the monkey would be confined in a restraining chair in front of a panel of push buttons. Nearby would be a food delivery machine, actuated by electrical signals.

A television camera would record the monkey's reactions.

"We are primarily interested in the monkey because of the complex behavior of which he is capable," Dr. Weiss said.

Burning Rules Continue Here

Rules governing controlled burning will remain in effect the balance of May, according to Brook Bodkin, senior forest supervisor.

March, April and May are the controlled burning months in the spring and the period from September 15 until December 15 has similar restrictions.

All citizens should exercise the same care during May that they observed in the earlier spring months because the fire danger is not yet past, Bodkin emphasized.
